THAW'S FIGHT FOR FREEDOM IS LOST

Released on Writ and Seized By Immigration Authorities.

THREE MINUTES OF LIBERTY

Prisoner May be Thrust Across Vermont Border by Tonight and Returned at Once to Matteawan Asylum

Coaticook, Que. Sept. 3.—Harry Kendall Thaw, pried out of the Sherbrooke jail on a writ of habeas corpus obtained by a coup of William Travers Jerome, enjoyed three minutes of liberty this afternoon, and then was seized by the Dominion immigration authorities and hustled by automobile to this little town, where tonight he paced the floor in the immigration detention room. Tomorrow morning a special board of inquiry will sit in his case, and by night he may be thrust across the Vermont border as an undesirable alien. It was generally predicted tonight that before many hours Thaw would be back in the Matteawan Asylum from which he escaped Sunday, August 17th.

Habeas Corpus Sustained

The beginning of the end of Thaw's refuge in Canada came with dramatic swiftness. A writ of habeas corpus sued out last Saturday at the direction of Jerome, with John Boudreau, chief of police of this village as petitioner, was sustained at 2:45 o'clock this afternoon by Matthew Hutchison, superior judge of the district of St. Francis, sitting in chambers at Sherbrooke.

Stolid, pallid numb, Thaw sat not five feet from the judge as he read the decision. When in the very last paragraph the court declared him a free man, Thaw seemed to crumple up on the lounge where he sat. A cigar stump fell from his left hand, and from his right hand fluttered two gay bits of ribbon a child had given him. But he did not rise. W. K. McKeown, of his counsel, leaned over and patted him on the shoulder, whispered. Thaw raised his big staring eyes and stood up. Immigration officers moved near him, and then Thaw began slowly to move to the door.

At the threshold Assistant Superintendent Robertson, of the immigration bureau, said simply, "Come with us, Mr. Thaw." And without a word, except a hoarse good-bye to the reporters, Thaw obeyed.

Rushed from Sherbrooke

Five minutes later a gray roadster streaked away from the court house. In the back seat was Thaw. He had not even been given time to pack his scanty belongings and voluminous correspondence in his cell. In an hour he was here in Coaticook guarded in the detention room by two stalwart Dominion police. None but counsel were allowed to see him.

The 23-mile trip over was without special incident. Thaw expressed no surprise, evidenced no grief. Behind him trailed his defeated lawyers.

Thaw's Lawyers Stunned

Sherbrooke Que., Sept. 3.—Harry K. Thaw today lost his fight to defy deportation by remaining in the Sherbrooke jail. Judge Hutchison this afternoon sustained a writ of habeas corpus calling for his release. Thaw's lawyers seemed stunned. Special officers of the immigration department jostled them in the corridors.

"I'll see you in Coaticook, boys," said Thaw, waving his hand to reporters.

Thaw remained dazed for possibly three minutes. The crowd began to leave the judge's chamber in silence. Thaw followed aimlessly.

As he crossed the threshold, E. Blake Robertson, assistant superintendent of immigration ,tapped him on the shoulder and placed him officially under arrest, as an undesirable alien.

The crowd then surged from the building, and it was announced that Thaw would be taken immediately to Coaticook for a hearing.

Judge Shows Emotion

Judge Hutchison's voice trembled as he read the decision, which in effect started Stanford White's slayer on the road back to Mattewan. The Judge's hands shook so that he could hardly hold the parchment.

Thaw did not take his eyes off the reader. In his right hand Thaw held limply two little pennants of the fair which a little girl thrust upon him.

Was Illegally Confined

The court held, briefly that Thaw was being confined illegally, and that John Bordeau, chief of police of Coaticook, the petitioner, had a right to demand the prisoner's release.

Thompson's Trial Postponed

The trial of "Gentleman Roger" Thompson the chauffeur of the automobile that whirled Harry K. Thaw away from the New York State Hospital for the Insane at Matteawan on his now noted flight, today was postponed for a week. Both sides consented to the postponement.

Magistrate Mulvena continued Thompson's bail of $500. The chauffeur is charged with entering the Dominion of Canada by stealth and of assisting Thaw, an undesirable, to cross the border. He is subject to a maximum fine of $500 and three months in jail.

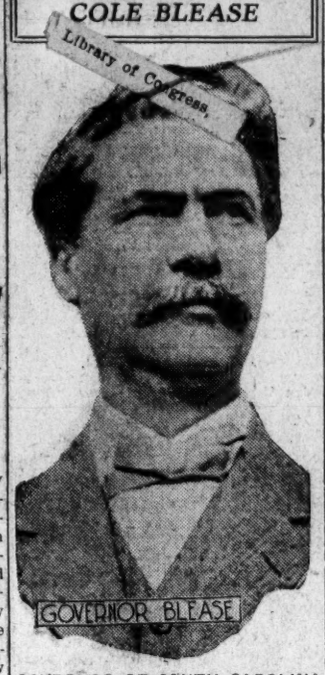
COLE BLEASE



GOVERNOR OF SOUTH CAROLINA ASSAILS CHURCHES.

Declares in Campaign Speech for Reforms in Pulpit and at the Altar.

Two thousand or more people of Horse Creek Valley, S. C., recently heard Gov. Cole L. Blease denounce the church of his State, and explain why he is not a church-goer, in a speech which opened his campaign for a seat in the United States Senate.

He asked to be elected so that he might carry into Congress his "fight for the virtue and womanhood of the South."

"They say South Carolina needs reform;" said Gov. Blease. "Do you know where these reforms are needed? In the pulpit and at the altar."

"I used to go to church once in a while;" he continued, "but I soon found out all they preached about was Blease and prohibition; I was for one and against the other, so I quit going.

GOV. GLENN AND HIS FUTURE

Knows Nothing of Alleged Job and Hasn't Decided What He Will Do—May Stay on Chautaugua Circuit.

(Special Star Telegram.)

Washington, D. C., Sept. 3.—Former Governor Robert B. Glenn, who stopped over in Washington today enroute to Atlantic City, in an interview for The Star tonight said that he had never intimated to President Wilson that he desired a Federal appointment, had never asked any of his friends nor enemies to do so and if any one had ever asked the President to give him a place under the Wilson administration, he did so without his authority.

After spending two weeks at Atlantic City with Mrs. Glenn, the former Governor will return to Washington and have a conference with President Wilson. This conference has been requested by the President himself. Immediately after his interview with the President, Mr. Glenn will go to North Carolina and personally confer with a number of his friends with reference to his future policies. Mr. Glenn believes that his own ideas as to progressive policies and those of E. J. Justice of Greensboro are very near the same. He said that Mr. Justice was his personal friend and referred to the fact that he appointed him a special attorney for the State while he was Governor.

In brief, after his two weeks vacation at the New Jersey Summer resort, the former Governor will return to the State and after conferring with his friends will do one of three things:

Announce his candidacy for the Senate against Senator Lee S. Overman; confer with President Wilson with a view of securing a Federal appointment, or continue his lecture tours which he says have been more than a success from a financial point of view.

If he decides to follow the latter course, Mr. Glenn will never again be a candidate for a public office. He will, however, continue to take an interest in politics and will never lose an opportunity to lend a helping hand to the cause of Democracy.

Sitting in the lobby of the National Hotel the former Governor outlined his future course to The Star correspondent as above stated. Mr. Glenn looked the picture of health. He laughingly said that he was at peace with the world, had found the chautauqua platform more than a success financially, and was well pleased with his seccess. He said he was particularly pleased with President Wilson's administration and said that the President's Mexican message was a masterpiece.

"I have had quite a number of letters from President Wilson since I left home," concluded the former Governor, "but not a single one of these communications ever intimated that I was slated for a job."

THINK HUERTA WILL NOT BE CANDIDATE

Optimistic Views of Washington Based on the Assumption

INELIGIBLE FOR PRESIDENCY

Minister Gamboa Declares Huerta Cannot, Under Mexican Constitution, Run for President in October Elections

Washington, Sept. 3.—Administration officials declared late tonight that both Nelson O'Shaughnessy, charge d' affaires of the American embassy at Mexico City, and John Lind, President Wilson's personal envoy at Vera Cruz, were in frequent communication with officials of the Huerta government concerning a new basis for negotiations through which it was hoped to bring about peace in Mexico.

A message from Mr. O'Shaughnessy reached President Wilson today, were not disclosed it was said to be indicative of important developments in the next few days.

The new basis for the parleys, most of which are being carried on orally, contemplates certain questions as having been definitely disposed of. The Washington government considers that it has made itself quite clear that it cannot under any circumstances recognize the Huerta government, and does not expect any further demands along that line.

The administration, moreover, though hoping for a positive assurance that Huerta will not be a candidate in the approaching elections is inclined to accept on its face value the assertions of Frederico Gamboa, Mexican minister of foreign affairs, in his two notes to Mr. Lind, that Huerta is ineligible for re-election as meaning his elimination from the Presidential race. Washington officials think an amicable understanding on this point undoubtedly will be reached.

With these fundamentals settled, it is understood that further negotiations by Messrs. O'Shaughnessy and Lind would look to the establishment of an effective armistice and the holding of a fair and free election.

Cause of Optimism Revealed

Washington Sept. 3.—Administration officials revealed tonight that the optimism they have felt in the last few days over the Mexican situation has been based largely upon what they have construed as an indirect assurance of Victoriano Huerta's intention not to be a candidate for the Presidency of Mexico in the October elections.

Much stress was laid at the White House, and in official quarters on the assertions of Frederico Gamboa, Mexican minister of foreign affairs, in his last note to John Lind, pointing out the ineligibility of Huerta under the Mexican constitution to become a candidate to succeed himself.

By some diplomats, the view is held that the constitutional prohibition against Huerta's candidacy would easily be evaded by his resignation in favor of another provisional President some time before the election.

Administration officials, who realize that such a contingency is possible believe, nevertheless, that Senor Gamboa was acting in good faith in his declaration that the candidacy of Huerta had not been raised as an issue in Mexico before the United States brought it into the discussion, that everybody there had taken into consideration his ineligibility for the Presidency, and had not launched any campaign for him.

Outside of administration quarters however, much significance is attached to the pronouncement in concert of various official and semi-official newspapers in Mexico City a few days ago that Huerta would now be compelled to be a candidate, because he had successfully defied the United States in the Lind negotiations.

High officials of the administration stated most emphatically that they felt quite satisfied of Huerta's elimination from the Presidential race.

Unofficial reports continue to reach Washington that the Huerta government cannot last much longer on account of financial difficulties.

Hale Reaches Washington

The arrival today from Mexico City of Dr. William Bayard Hale, personal friend of President Wilson, who has been making a study of the political conditions in Mexico for the last three months, is calculated to add materially to the President's information. Mr. Hale said today he went to Mexico unofficially and of his own volition but that any data he had gathered would be at the service of the United States government. He has an engagement to talk to President Wilson at length tomorrow. Mr. Hale denied that he carried any documents from Mr. Lind, but it is understood that from his recent conversations with Mr. Lind and his close intimacy with the negotiations which have been conducted with Senor Gamboa, he will be able to give the administration a more comprehensive view of affairs in Mexico than has been possible through cable messages.

Lind Awaiting Instructions

Meanwhile Mr. Lind will remain in Vera Cruz pending orders from Washington. At the White House it was stated that messages have been exchanged within the last 24 hours with both Mr. Lind and Charge O'Shaughnessy at Mexico City, which indicated an encouraging and hopeful view for the ultimate success of the negotiations.

President Wilson immediately on his return from the Summer capital at Cornish, N. H., delved into the subject again. At the White House it confidently is expected that at the end of this week there will be tangible developments.

DEFEAT ATTEMPT TO AMEND TARIFF BILL

Senate Majority Presents Solid Phalanx in Opposition

TRUST QUESTION DISCUSSED

Amendment to Underwood-Simmons Measure Designed to Regulate the Trusts, is Blocked—Proposal to Free List Aluminum Defeated.

Washington, Sept. 3.—One of the rocks which threatened the peaceful passage of the Underwood-Simmons Tariff bill dissolved into thin air late today when the Senate majority swung solidly into line behind its leaders to defeat an amendment designed to regulate trusts.

By a vote of 55 to 12, the Senate rejected a proposal by Senator Kenyon to put aluminum upon the free list. Senator Kenyon and those who joined him in supporting the amendment declared that the manufacture of aluminum in the United States was in the control of a monopoly—the Aluminum Company of America. The vote was accepted as a prelude to action upon another amendment proposing to free list the manufactures of all combinations declared by the courts to be monopolies.

Cahirman Simmons, of the Finance committee, announced during the debate that it was not the purpose of the majority to legislate on the trust question at the present time. He agreed that the Baltimore platform declared against trust-made products, but said this was not the time for trust legislation. He said that Congress had spent the Summer on tariff, and the Fall on currency, and promised that when those matters were disposed of trust legislation would be taken up. He prophesied that Winter would find the legislators still in session.

Senator Simmons spoke after a visit to the White House, and it was said that "Insurgent" Democrats had been told that the President did not think it was the time for good Democrats to go to the aid of the Progressive Republicans. Senators Reed and Walsh announced themselves in accord with a policy of trust regulation, but argued that many difficulties lay in the way of attempting such restrictions in a tariff measure.

The regular Republicans voted with the Democrats against the amendment. The paragraph forbidding the importation of bird plumage, except for scientific or educational purposes, desired by the Audubon Society, which was debated fiercely in caucus last night, was agreed to without question.

Senators Lodge and Root argued against the proposed 25 per cent. duty on works of art, in the bill, and Senator Thomas spoke in favor of it. The Republicans were beaten on the vote.

Senator LaFollette introduced his amendment to the cotton schedule. It proposes changes in practically every paragraph, to make many rates higher and others lower than those proposed in the present bill.

COL. SAM. TATE SUICIDES.

Was Chief of Engineers of Trans-Continental Railroad Company.

Asheville, N. C., Sept. 3.—After writing letters to several of his personal friends in this city, Cononel Sam. Tate, chief of engineers of the Trans-Continental Railroad Company, and prominent in engineering circles of the country, committed suicide at an exclusive hotel here today, by hanging himself with a cord, which had been taken from a Venetian blind in his room. The body of the deceased was discovered by an attache of the hotel, and an examination showed that Colonel Tate had been dead several minutes when the body was discovered.

Colonel Tate was a member of a prominent Memphis family, having been the son of the late Sam. Tate of that city. He was 65 years of age, and is survived by a wife and two daughters—Miss Louise Tate, of this city, and Mrs. M. W. Barton, of New York city. He had taken an active part in the building of many railroad lines in Central America and Jamaica, Mexico and many of the States of the Middle West.

OUTLINES

Washington officials revealed that the optimism they have recently felt over the Mexican situation has been based on the assuption that Huerta does not intend to become a candidate for the Presidency of Mexico in the October elections.

The administration currency bill was under fire at both ends of the capitol at the hands Republican committeemen and representatives of the American Bankers Association.

The first season of the North Carolina Baseball league closed yesterday Winston-Salem winning the pennant by a margin of four points.

Harry K. Thaw was released from Sherbrooke jail on a writ of habeas corpus, and after enjoying three minutes of liberty was seized by the Dominion Immigration authorities and hurried to Coaticook, Que.

The Senate majority defeated the passage of an amendment to the Underwood Simmons tariff bill designed to regulate trusts.

Accident Brings Forgiveness for Elopers.

MRS. "JACK" GERAGHTY

Boston, Sept. 3.—As a result of an automobile accident in which Mrs. Stuyvesant Leroy, aged sixty-two, a former New York society leader, was probably fatally injured, and Mrs. Amos T. French, Mrs. Leroy's daughter, was severely shaken up, the final and happy chapter has been added to a hitherto uncomplete romance. The accident occurred near Boston when the Leroy automobile ran into a tree. The two women were brought to the Touraine Hotel, and Mrs. French immediately summoned her daughter Mrs. "Jack" Geraghty, who had been disowned two years ago for eloping with the chauffeur. Mrs. "Jack" immediately answered the summons, and brought her handsome husband, who received the long delayed blessing.

PLEA FOR BETTER NAVY YARDS

Improvements and Increased Facilities for Stations on Atlantic Coast Recommended in Report to Secretary Daniels

Washington, Sept. 3.—Improvements and increased facilities for practically every navy yard along the Atlantic coast were recommended in reports subhitted to Secretary Daniels by a special board which has just completed an investigation of conditions at all the various plants. Special attention was given to the subject of a great naval station on the Gulf of Mexico, necessary on account of the Panama canal, and Pensacola, Fla., was recommended as the best site for such an establishment.

While urging extensions and improvements at the New York and Boston yards, the board expressed the opinion that the increasing congestion of commerce at these ports soon would compel the department to give up its stations there.

Government facilities for construction are entirely inadequate, the board reported. Any delay in building up the navy yards on the expectation that private plants can be depended on to meet war demands of the navy, the report said "impairs naval efficiency and is a menace to our first line of National defense."

"The country's future naval needs," it added, "undoubtedly will demand that we possess two stations on the Atlantic coast and one on the Pacific with facilities for undertaking the work of building a battleship on short notice."

The navy yard at New York and Boston probably will have to be abandoned at no distant future. As a result of the impelling demand of commerce, says the report. The board, however, recommends certain temporary improvements at these yards.

"The existing overshadowing need of the New York navy yard," says the report," is the erection of a modern shipbuilding shop, together with improved facilities for handling and distributing the large amount of material that enters into ship construction."

The board recommends the construction of more adequate storage buildings at Philadelphia navy yard.

At Norfolk the board holds that an additional dry dock of the largest dimensions is needed. The need of another dock at Norfolk it is said "is based on the immediate needs of that particular station and bears no relation to, and is independent of any other naval station."

The board does not recommend the re-opening of the New Orleans station, but recommends that no machinery or appurtenances now at that station be transferrd unless provisions are made elsewhere in the Gulf of

WORST STORM IN HISTORY

Terrific Gale Hits Goldsboro and Other Eastern Carolina Points—Newbern Cut Off and Neuse River Flooding

(Special Star Telegram.)

Goldsboro, N. C., Sept. 3.—The worst storm in the history of Goldsboro made its advent here about midnight last night and broke over the city again this afternoon with equinoctial suddeness, accompanied by a wind of cyclonic proportions, blowing down telephone poles and trees all over the city and the streets are littered with limbs, poles, fences and electric light wires are all down in every direction.

The alarm of fire in the midst of the storm was occasioned by a conflagration at the plant of the Bitulithic Street Paving Co., but heroic work of the firemen who were promptly on the scene, prevented serious damage.

It is reported that serious damage has resulted from the storm all over the county. Up to this hour the passenger train from the coast at Beaufort had not arrived, and the train that left here this morning over the Norfolk Southern for Beaufort did not go beyond Newbern, doubling back from that city; and parties coming in on it from that city brought the news that the storm has been terrific in that section and the city was cut off by all telegraph and telephone connections.

The county bridge at Newbern, it was stated, over Neuse river, has been lifted by the high water and rammed against the Norfolk Southern bridge on the track to Norfolk, so that no train has been operated over its line to that city today.

An engineer bringing a freight train from Newbern to this city arriving here at six o'clock this afternoon, stated that another bridge had been washed away and the city of Newbern was under four feet of water when he left with his engine for Goldsboro.

Wind 52 Miles Hour at Norfolk

Norfolk, Va., Sept. 3.—A severe northeast storm swept the Virginia, North Carolina and Maryland coasts today with the wind reaching a maximum velocity at Cape Henry early this morning of 48 miles an hour from the east. The four-masted coasting schooner, Richard F. C. Hartley, from New York to Charleston, S. C., with salt, which went ashore yesterday between Bodies Island and Cape Hatteras with the loss of two members of her crew, broke up in the high seas of today and much of the wreckage came ashore along the coast. Captain Sprague, of Stockston Springs, Maine, and the four surviving members of the Hartley's crew were today being cared for by the lifesavers of the Chi-

THE CURRENCY BILL UNDER DOUBLE FIRE

Attacked By Republicans and Bankers' Representatives.

BURKE RESOLUTION DEFEATED

Financiers Criticise Administration Plans for Reforming the Monetry System—Senate Hearing to Continue.

Washingtin, Sept. 3.—The Administration Currency Bill was under fire at both ends of the Capitol today. While representatives of the American Bankers' Association continued their ciriticism of the bill before the Senate Currency committee, Republican members of the House committee, made an ineffectual effort to have new hearings opened there.

The administration forces of the House committee defeated the plan for new hearing by a vote of 10 to 8. All of the Republicans supported a resolution offered by Representative Burke, of Pennsylavania (Republican,) which asked that the Secretary of the Treasury, the Comptroller of the Currency, and representatives of the American Bankers' Association be heard.

The Burke resolution was defeated, and the committee adpoted one by Representative Wingo, of Arkansas, Democrat, declaring the view of the American Bankers Association were fully known, and that the amendment proposed by the recent bankers conference at Chicago had been "repeatedly suggested to the proponents of the bill, and every one of them seriously discussed and carefully considered by those responsible to the county for this legislation.

This action will result in the conclusion of consideration of the bill by the House committee late tomorrow, and the reporting of the measure to the House Monday. Democratic leaders then will urge immediate consideration of the bill.

In the committee meeting today Representative Ragsdale of South Carolina, was the only Democrat who favored the opening of new hearings.

The Senate hearing will continue throughout the week with members of the Bankers committee as chief witnesses. It is expected that Republican members of the committee will seek to defer all currency legislation until December.

Today's session of the Senate committee was interrupted by a banker not a member of the Chicago conference commitee, who opposed many of the suggestions made by the bankers committee. This witness, President Johnston, of the National Reserve Bank, of Kansas City, said the Central Bank idea advocated by many bankers tended to "centralization of power." He favored the administration plan also "decentralization of power."

Festus J. Wade, president of the Mercantile Trust company, of St. Louis, chief representative of the Bankers Conference committee, declared the National banks of the country ought not to be compelled to surrender one-tenth of the capital and one-half of their reserves.

Mr. Wade charged that the administration bill was a force bill" would accomplish far less in bringing about a satisfactory reorganization of the banking system than would a plan that was more attractive to the banks.

He said the plan would give National banks few advantages that they would not enjoy under state bank charaters, and that many of them would retire to the state bank field. The witness declared the banks did not care to own the stock of the regional reserve banks and would be willing that it should go into the hands of private subscibers.

The refusal of but 10 per cent of the National banks in the different sections of the country to join the proposed system, would make it impossible to secure the necessary $5,000,000 capital of reginoal reserve banks in the middle states and in the Pacific coast states, said Mr. Wade.

Mr. Wade endorsed a suggestion made by Senator Weeks Republican, for the selection of a list of fifty or more men by the banks, from which list the President might appoint the four members he selects to serve on the Federal reserve board.

"What we want is banking experience, credit experience, and financial wisdom on that board" he said.

"We believe the notes should be issued by the federal reserve board to the banks and by them to the public, and that all the federal reserve banks should be responsible for the whole issue of notes," said Sol Wexler of New Orleans, one of the spokesmen for the recent bankers conference at Chicago.

Senator Reed, Democrat, declared he was "wedded to no particular currency plan" and through the hearing witnesses were questioned with freedom indicating that the committee would take up the administration plan with open minds.

Senator Reed asked if the banks were not responsible for the suspension of payments in the panic of 1907.

Mr. Wexler replied the banks withdrew their deposits from New York, and to that extent contributed to the stringency.

Suggestions that the stock of the proposed regional reserve banks be offered to the public were disapproved by the bankers.

By a vote of 10 to 8 the House Banking committee today declined to invite representatives of the American Bankers Association or Secretary McAdoo to discuss the currency bill. The majority voted that it would be inexpedient to delay the legislation.

SENATORS LOSE FINAL GAME AT PHILADELPHIA

Tied, Then Lost the Game In the Seventh Inning.

CALDWELL CANNED CHAMPS

Ray Caldwell Held Red Sox to Seven Scattered Hits But Four Scored On Passes—Score Eleven To Four.

The final home engagement of the Athletics with the Washington Senators went to the home team yesterday by a four to three tally, after Washington had tied the score in the seventh inning when Bender went in to twirl. Groom was replaced by Walter Johnson early in the game, Johnson holding the leaders to one tally for the remainder of the game. Brown started for the Mackmen, but was replaced by Chief Bender.

Ray Caldwel, of the New York Yankees, held the Boston World Champions to seven scatered hits while the Yanks hatted Anderson for 16 safeties good for 25 bases, and won by a score of eleven to four. The Bostons' hits were so effectively scattered that it was only through passes by Caldwell that they were enabled to score their four runs.

Tthletics Won Final.

Philadelphia, Sept. 3.—Washington lost its final game of the season to Philadelphia here today by 4 to 3. Washington tied the score in the seventh when Bender went in to pitch but the home team scored the deciding run in its half of the same inning.

Cobb Will Not Be A Yankee

Ty Cobb has just wired The Journal that he will not go to New York and that he knows nothing of the newspaper reports which have been widely circulated to that effect.

In his wording, the report is "too good to be true."

Cobb is still with Detroit. Griffith made a dicker for his services, but nothing came of it, the report was promulgated by some papers that he was sold to New York for $40,000, and other papers said "I told you so." but as yet Ty is still a Tiger. —Atlanta Journal.

SENSATIONAL PACER

Directum I Takes 2:07 Pace in the Straight Heats

Hartford, Conn., Sept. 3.—Directum I, the sensational pacer stallion of the season, afforded the spectators at the Grand Circuit races here this afternoon a fine spectacle of his speed when he took the 2:07 pace in straight heats, outclassing the field. The Capital City 2:08 trot was won by the little bay mare Cheeny, after losing the first heat while the unexpected happened twice in the 2:20 trot for three-year-old, allowing George Rex to come in a winner after three heats.

In the 2:09 trot brought over from yesterday, Dan Patch, who just lost a chance to capture the race in the sixth heat when James W nosed her out at the wire, came back strongly this afternoon and beat Cox's horse in a close finish.

Directum I surprised the crowd by his wonderful speed and the easy manner in which he led the rest of the field.

MYSTERIOUS CRAFT PURSUED.

Gunboat Nashville Trailing Suspected Vessel in South American Waters

Washington, Sept. 3.—Suspected of being a filibuster, a mysterious vessel, sailing around somewhere in Central American waters off the coast of Honduras, is believed to have caused the diversion of the gunboat Nashville, bound for Vera Cruz, to Puerto Cortez, Honduras. The general belief is that the vessel is heading for Honduras, although there also is a suspicion that there may be a plan to smuggle a lot of arms into Mexico.

According to reports, the ship put off three or four days ago from one of the numerous islands off British Honduras, and therefore would be immune from interference by an American warship. The Nashville, in case necessity arises for protecting American property in Honduras, will have marines handy.

THREE KILLED IN FEUD

Fourth Victim of Kentucky Family Trouble Reported Dying

Saylersville, Ky., Sept. 3.—Three men were killed and a fourth was probably fatally wounded near here late last night in a gun fight believed to have been the result of a family feud.

The dead are Nero and Seymour Howard, brothers, and a young man named Cornett. The latter's father, Russell Cornett, who also participated in the fight was believed to be mortally wounded.

STEAMER MOJACK SAFE.

Vessel Reported Lost in Storm at Last Reaches Norfolk.

Norfolk, Va., Sept. 3.—The Old Dominion steamer Mojack, reported lost in the storm which swept Chesapeake Bay today, arrived at her pier in Norfolk at 8:10 o'clock. Captain G. E. Caffee reported that the steamer did not strike the full force of the storm, and did not encounter the waterspout that threatened to destroy other craft in the bay. He says the steamer experienced a rough voyage, but was never in any serious danger.

West Africa in 1912 produced 11,890 bales of cotton.

Many Called But Most Are Frozen

He was a wise fish who first remarked that "Many are called, but most are frozen."

Of the 150 youngsters who were brought, drafted, or otherwise lifted from the minors last season, but 18 were able to make good and paddle along as regulars under the Main Tent. Twelve per cent carried safely on through, while the remaining 88 per cent skidded back where the woodbine twineth or else veered to the bench for further instruction.

Demaree of the Giants, Reussell of the White Sox, and Roehling of the Senators are the three main pitching finds, with Weilman and Leverenz of the Brawns, Shawkey of the Athletics, and Dauss of the Tigers close behind.

Maranville of the Boston Braves, Viox of the Pirates, and Chapman of the Cleveland Naps were the only three infielders of note to carry through, Schang of the Athletics, Schalk White Sox, and Agnew of the Browns top the catching finds, while E. Murphy of the Athletics, Leibold of the Naps, Stengle of the Dodgers, and Conelly of the Braves rank the outfield recruits. Hap Myers of Boston was the only recruit first baseman to break in and stick.

A compilation of the general average shows that it is about as hard to bolster up one spot as another, although good pitching comes in thicker clusters than fast outfielders who can harass the ball from .280 to .310.

Out of the entire outfield flotilla of youngsters, Eddie Murphy of the Athletics was the sole entry from 1912 able to flirt consistently with .300.

Yet the haul was an average one, as Schang and Schalk are two fine young catchers; Chapman and Maranville rank already among the leading shortstops. Russell, Demaree, Boehling, and one or two others have furnished their share of the pitching defense.

The percentage of those who stick shows what a rough-and-tumble task the American Ivory Hunter is up against. He can beat the bushes for the stretch of a thousand miles and be lucky to trap one fledgling good enough to fill in where some old boy with a worn-out arm or leg is still hanging on, watching his base hits with one eye and the list of drafts and purchases with the other.

If an all-American team of Big League Debutants is to be selected the following would be the main reply:

Catchers—Schang, Schalk, Agnew.

Pitchers—Demaree, Russell, Boehling, Weilman, Leverenz.

Infield—Myers, Viox, Maranville, and Chapman.

Outfield—E. Murphy, Burns (who put in a year on the bench); Conelly. Which happens to be a better ball club than several we know rigged up with triple the experience.

New York is making preparations for another Philadelphia World Series invasion.

The preparations so far embrace two main details. The first consits in the arrangement of a portable right-field fence that can be shifted back 300 feet when J. Franklin Baker arrives at the plate in a moment of stress.

The second move consists in a course of aeroplane lessons for right fielder Jack Murray in case the 300 feet of portability prove to be by a few inches shy of the Bakerian limit. —Grantland Rice in Colliers Weekly.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED

Fayetteville Society Given Pleasant Surprise—Enjoyable Reception

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Fayetteville, N. C., Sept. 3.—A number of guests were pleasantly surprised Monday afternoon, when Mrs. Claude W. Rankin announced the engagement of Miss Elizabeth Rankin and Mr. Hector MacKethan. The marriage is to take place in November.

The occasion was a very happy one, being a party given in honor of Miss Linnie Mann, of High Point, who is Mrs. Rankin's house guest. Knowing this, the visitors were not prepared for the revealing of the secret which came during the luncheon.

The guests were received by Mrs. Claude Rankin Misses Elizabeth and Zula Rankin, Miss Mann and Miss Winnie Bruton, and were ushered into the parlors, where a course of progressive games was played. Mrs. Sam Tillinghast and Miss Grace Jennings cut for the prize, which was a book, Miss Jennings being successful. The house guests, Miss Elizabeth Rankin and Miss Mann, were given appropriate prizes. The house was beautifully decorated in ferns and nasturtiums. The color note—gold and green—was further used in hand-painted tally cards and announcement cards and in the refreshments. Grape fruit salad, cheese sandwiches, iced tea and green cherry sherbet was the refreshing course served at the end of the games. It was here that the announcement came. In the heart-shaped false sandwich on each plate was a hand-painted double-heart card bearing the legend: "E. R.-H. McK. November, 1913." Miss Elizabeth Rankin received the good wishes of her assembled friends in her usual sincerely sweet manner. Society is looking forward with a great deal of interest to the marriage.

WINSTON-SALEM WINS PENNANT

First Season of North Carolina League Closed Yesterday

Charlotte, N. C., Sept. 3.—The first season of the North Carolina League closed today, Winston-Salem winning the pennant by a margin of four points. The other clubs closed in the following order: Durham Raleigh, Asheville, Charlotte, Greensboro. The pennant was undecided until today when Winston-Salem was scheduled to play Greensboro, and Durham a double-header with Raleigh. These games were rained out. Charlotte and Asheville played seven innings in the rain, putting up a farcical exhibition, which was called at the end of the seventh on account of rain, the score standing Charlotte, 7; Asheville, 7.

LIGHT ON M'CLUNG CASE.

Man Held at Greensboro Wanted in Connection With Kinsman's Death

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Greensboro, N. C., Sept. 3.—It was said at the sheriff's office here today that no further word has been received from West Virginia officials with regard to the case against Tollie McClung, the young teacher in the Greensboro Commerical school, who was arrested Monday on telegrams from sheriff of Nicholas county, West Virginia. It is expected that an officer will arrive from West Virginia soon to carry McClung back to his native country for trial. A letter has been received by Elliott McClung a brother here, which indicates the nature of the case againt Tollie. This letter is as follows:

"Will drop you a line today. Will McClung was found dead yesterday and John McClung swore out a warrant for father, Tollie and me, and father and I are under arrest at Lewasy now. Let Tollie know this when he arrives and tell him we will let him know when to come home, if the officer does not go after him. Will write you often." This is signed by Alvin McClung. It develops that there has long been a family feud and had feeling between two brothers of the McClung family and their children. McJee McClung, who sent one of the telegrams here, is a son of the deceased and a sousin of the youth in jail here.

Interesting sessions are being held by the North Carolina Association for the blind in annual session here. The burden of the convention is a home for blind women, and every effort is being forth to give this a good start at this meeting. A bazaar was opened today, which will continue for a week, and being sold are a large number of articles of hand-worked made by members of the association. The proceeds of the bazaar will go towards the erection of the home for women. Tonight a muscial was given by an orchestra composed of members of the association. This was well attended and greatly enjoyed.

MATHEWSON AND GIANTS LOST FINAL TO BRAVES

Twirler Tyler Held McGraw Men To One Single.

PHILS AND DODGERS DIVIDED

Mordecai Brown Twirled Old-time Victory for Reds—Cubs Took Their Fourth Straight from Cardinals

The Boston Braves on their farewell appearance of the season at the Polo Grounds left with victory over the Giants and "Big Six" Mathewson, winning the final game of the series by a two to one score, making an even break for the series. George Tyler, of the Braves, pitched the greatest game of his career, holding the heavy hitting Giant artillery to one little single, while Mathewson issued nine well-scattered safeties. George Wiltse relieving him in the final innings.

The Phillies and the Brooklyn Dodgers played off two postponed games yesterday and broke even, the visitors taking the first by a four to three count and the Dodgers the second game, five to three. Pfeffer, a Brooklyn recruit, attempted the first game, but allowed the Phils to get a lead in three innings that was insurmountable, and was retired in favor of Earl Yingling.

"Three-fingered" Brown pitched one of his old-time games for the Reds against Pittsburgh yesterday and Cincinnati won the final game three to one. Manager Tinker returned to the game after several days' absence, and was credited with three of the Reds' ten hits.

The Chicago Cubs took their fourth straight game from the St. Louis Cardinals, pounding Trekell hard in the first four innings, for a lead which the Cards could not overcome.

Mathewson Defeated

New York, Sept. 3.—The Bostons won an even break in their four-game series with New York when they celebrated their farewell appearance of the season at the Polo Grounds today with a 2 to 1 victory over the champions. George Tyler held New York to one hit. Mathewson pitched well for New York.

W. D. Baggett Charged With Setting His Store on Fire—McKenzie Trial

(Special Star Telegram.)

Lumberton, N. C., Sept. 3.—Mr. W. D. Baggett, whose hardware store was damaged by fire about a month ago ,was arrested today charged with having fired the building.

Deputy Fire Insurance Commissioner Jordan has been at work on the case and as a result of his investigation the grand jury now in session found a true bill against Mr. Baggett. Bond of $500 was made tonight and Mr. Baggett was released.

Much sympathy is felt for Mr. Baggett, who has a wife and three small children. Many friends believe he is innocent.

The trial of Will McKenzie, charged with killing his brother-in-law Peter Jones, in Scotland county, last October, was begun in Superior Court here today, the case having been removed to this county.

The jury had been secured when court adjourned at noon and 12 or 15 witnesses had been examined when court adjourned this evening at six o'clock. Both families are prominent and a brilliant array of counsel is employed on both sides.

Crimson Fringe On the Sky Line

One may now lamp a crimson tint upon the leaves, a crimson glow to September's sunlight, and, looking just beyond into a frenzied mass of struggling souls, there is also a crimson fringe around the football situation.

Yale is making plans for a valiant year under the rule of Ketcham and Jones. It has been some years now since Crimson flesh was Bulldog meat. Princeton, with her usual vivacity and grit, will go in headlong with a light team and let the rips fall where they may. Cornell and Penn both see brighter year, while Carlisle mourns the absent Thorpe, who has left the amateur reservation to run amuck no more. The Western alignment or arrangement is about the same, with no vast shifts in any one direction.

But in the meantime, no one has heard any weeping and wailing from the direction of Cambridge Mass. With Messrs. Brickley, Hardwick, etc. still in tow, and a world of power scattered about, Harvard will be severely jolted if she is forced to dig for an alibi to explain another Blue or an Orange and Black renaissance.

ATLANTA EXCITED.

Won From Mobile Yesterday—Wants Two More to Win Pennant.

Atlanta, Sept. 3.—Atlanta won from Mobile here today 4 to 3, and tonight this city is literally baseball mad. Today's victory brought the local team to within one game of Mobile, the league leaders. Should Atlanta win three more games, its title to the 1913 pennant will be clear.

So intense was the interest in today's contest that many stores and business houses closed their doors, that their employees might swell the throng at the baseball grounds and cheer the local team. The seating capacity of grand stand and bleachers was taxed to the utmost and there was an overflow crowd in left field. It is estimated that the stands can seat 7500. While the game was not remarkable for clean fielding, it was replete with thrills and brilliant play. Four errors were scored against Smith Atlanta's second baseman, but despite this the contest was fast, snappy and tense. Mobile tied the score in the eight when Robertson secured his second hit, stole second and scored on Miller's triple to leftfield. Hoggs wildness cropped out again in the ninth, however, Dunn drawing four balls. The Atlanta catcher advanced when Dents acrificed and scored the winning run when Agler hit safely for the second time today.

As the teams stand tonight Mobile has won 80 and lost 55, while Atlanta has won 79 and lost 56.

New York, Sept. 3.—Frank Morgan, the Pittsburgh heavyweight, knocked out Al Palser, of Iowa, in the seventh round of their scheduled ten-round bout here tonight.

Handsome Gold Timepiece Presented to Retiring Assistant Postmaster

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Fayetteville N. C., Sept. 3.—As a testimony of their esteem won during her term as assistant postmaster, the members of the Fayetteville post-office force, from Postmaster L. B. Hale to the newest carrier, united in presenting to Mrs. A. L. McCaskill, retiring assistant postmaster, a handsome gold watch. The presentation was made by the oldest member of the office force, Mr. R. A. Murchison.

Mrs. McCaskill, easily the most liked, most affable and accommodating and one of the most efficient officials who has filled her position in Fayetteville, is starting to take her vacation and will permanently retire on September 20th, when the appointment of Mr. R. S. McNeill will become effective. Mr. McNeill won his appointment in a competitive examination, achieving the highest average ever made in competition for a place in the local office.

In preparation for the coming season, C. L. Bevill, "the Mule King of the South" is building a stable and barn combined that will accommodate 300 head of horses and mules, on the old Hawley farm on the northeast edge of town. The farm is being divided into runs for the stock. In addition to this, Mr. Bevill is adding stall room for 150 animals to his big stables on Gillepsie street.

To replace a similar medal which had been lost, Theodore Sydow, a German barber of this city, has received from the German Emperor a copper medallion struck in honor of the 100th anniversary of the birth of Emperor William I. The medallion, which is made from old army guns, is presented to every soldier who serves with honor his two years' enlistment in the Imperial army. Mr. Sydow's was forwarded to him through the German embassy at Washington.

DEATH FREES OUTLAW

"Bill" Minor Ends Picturesque Career in Georgia Prison

Milledgeville, Ga., Sept. 3.—Death has freed "Bill" Minor, notorious robber, jail breaker and "Gentleman of Fortune," from his last prison term. His picturesque career, which included clashes with the laws of more than a score of States and several Canadian provinces ended late last night at the Georgia State prison farm near here.

He had been ill for several months from gastritis. He was 75 years old. Minor's criminal career began nearly 60 years ago. He is said to have left his home in Kentucky before he was 15 years of age and gone West. He admitted numerous stage coach robberies, and train hold-ups, and was several times incarcerated for burglarizing banks. He operated throughout the West, worked North into Canada, and then invaded the Eastern States. He escaped many times from jails and State prisons. Three years ago he was sent to the State prison farm here for robbing a train near Lulu, Ga., and began a term of 20 years. He has since escaped and been re-captured twice.

For several years Minor was a member of the outlaw band led by Jesse James. His real name, he told prison authorities a few days before he died was George Anderson.

DAVID'S

GOOD service in the matter of clothes is the thing we're trying to give to the men of this community.

Good service involves knowing what you ought to have in matters of quality; it means seeing that you get the best possible value for your money; and that means, of course, pricing the goods so we can give that sort of service.

It means style, too; and good fit. It means having clothes that will fit such figures as our illustration shows—portly men, stout men, short men; hard-to-fit men.

Service means, also, telling you about it; we're doing that.

EAT SAME FOOD AS PATIENTS

Dr Anderson Replies to Criticism of Conduct of Central Hospital—Whiskey Cases on Appeal—Public Charities.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Raleigh, N. C., Sept. 3.—In commenting on the criticism made by Mrs. Heath, of New York, regarding the food at the Central Hospital here, the new superintendent, Dr. Albert Anderson, said today:

"We always welcome visitors and appreciate criticism of conditions found. Mrs. Heath's statement as it appeared in the newspapers, however, has been misinterpreted by some people. I know that the physical condition of the patients is as good as in any hospital I have ever seen, and it should also be said that the superintendent and physicians and other officers and their families eat the same food that is given the patients. The excellent health of both patients and officers disprove any suggestion of bad food.

"While conditions in the institution are suceptible of improvements in many directions, we are making these improvements just as rapidly as possible, and I am confident that under the direction of our most capable new matron, the cooking conditions will be rapidly improved beyond all criticism; and the institution will continue open to the public so they can see that this condition is really achieved."

Had 490 Gallons Whiskey.

Two of the most notable appeals on the calendar of 24 cases from the second district being argued before the Supreme Court this week are State vs, R. H. Denton, from Edgecombe county, in which the appellant is under sentence of 12 months on the roads for having in his possession at Tarboro, N. C., 490 gallons of whiskey that was found under search and sezure proceedings; and State vs. D. E. Everitt, from Edgecombe county, in which the appellant is under nine months sentence for selling whiskey, being guilty of selling while under bond for good behavior after previous conviction. In the case of Denton the appeal applies not only to the sentence of 12 months imposed on the appellant, but also to an order of the court that his 490 gallons of whiskey be destroyed. There was no evidence of sale and the liquor was on hand before the new search and seizure law went into effect. The judge held that having the whiskey in his possession was evidence of sales.

School for Feeble-Minded.

The State board of public charities is out in an endorsement of the efforts of the management of the State School for Feeble-Minded for a special appropriation by the Legislature at the approaching special session in order that the institution may open in approved condition without further delay. The board urges that provision be made as speedily as possible for a special building at the General Hospital for insane here for treatment of acute cases to include an up-to-date laboratory with equiupment for hydrotheropy, electrotheropy and other special treatment. Also for the provision of more room for female patients, it being impossible to take care of all of even the most urgent cases now. The board also usges similar equipment for the State hospitals at Goldsboro and Morganton just as soon as the State can provide the appropriations. The State's prison is commended as especially well kept with remarkable improvement during the past decade. And there is steady improvement in county convict camps.

Deputy Collectors W. K. Merritt and J. P. Stell are back in Raleigh from Durham county where they destroyed 150 gallons of blockade wsiskey found buried in a cornfield three miles from Durham on the Chapel Hill road. No one would claim the whiskey.

State Capital News Notes.

Ten more convicts have been sent by the penitentiary management to the Hickory Nut Gap turnpike to take a hand in the construction workmaking 53 now at work on this seven-mile link in the Asheville-Charlotte highway.

Adjutant General Young, of the North Carolina National Guard, is just back from Camp Perry, Ohio, where he was in charge of the North Carolina team for the international shoot. North Carolina bettered the record of the State last year 107 points, making a score of 2,236 out of possible 3,000 point score. North Carolina ranked 42nd among the States and beat Virginia, South Carolina and other neighboring States.

George Craig, son of Governor Craig, underwent an operation this morning at Rex Hosiptal for appendicitis, by Doctors Knox and Turner. The young man's condition is very satisfactory.

At the request of the Johnston county authorities, Governor Craig issued a requisition today on the Governor of South Carolina for John A. Johnson and Archie Canady who are being held in the Palmeto State on the charge of breaking into the residence of W. F. Smith, of Johnston county, and stealing a small sum of money.

This was the day for Dr. J. Y. Joyner, State superintendent of public instruction, to go with a special Wake county committee to locate two proposed farm life schools. There are three sites offered, one each at Cary, Wendell and Wakelon. Two of those will be chosen and the competion is very marked.

There is every indication now that the quarters for the Supreme Court and the court library on the third and fourth floors of the new, quarter-million dollar State building, will be ready for the court to move in by September 28th.

Business Man Taken Ill With Indigestion While Out Collecting.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Kinston, N. C., Sept. 3.—Burrell Stroud, a welltodo merchant of Kinston, approached the wife of Starkey Cobb (colored) in South Kinston told her he was very sick and asked that he be allowed to rest on a bad in her home. The woman readily consented and nothing that Mr. Stroud appeared to be in desperate shape, ran for help. When she returned he was dead. Physicians said that his death was due to heart trouble, and this was probably directly attributable to indigestion, of which he had complained earlier in the day. He was collecting in the vicinity when taken ill. Burrell Stroud was 36 years of age and one of the best known of the city's younger business men. He was a native of this county and embarked in business here 10 years ago. By his industry and persistent atention to his affairs he had worked his way to a competency and substantial position in the city's business life. He is survived by a wife and four children.

UP TO NEW HANOVER

Brunswick Will Build Bridge When This County Builds Hers.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Southport, N. C., Sept. 2.—The county commissioners met in regular session here Monday. In looking over the matter of the election in which this county voted to issue bonds for the construction of a bridge across the Brunswick river, in order to connect with New Hanover county, when that coutny builds a bridge across the Cape Fear river, at Wilmington, it was found that the law by which the election had been held was unconstitutional therefore the board passed a resolution, that by the authority vested in it, Brunswick county would build a bridge across the Brunswick river, when the county of New Hanover had complied with its part of the contract. The board granted permission to the residents of Waccamaw, township to hold an election to vote bonds for the building of good roads, at such a time as may be hereafter agreed upon.

The jury for the October term of Brunswick county was drawn. This is for the trial of criminal and civil cases, but if the criminal docket is cleared up it will be a good work, there being 11 in the county jail, awaiting trial for various misdemeanors. As in the case of many counties, every inmate of the jail is what might be termed a non-resident so far as a permanent citizenship of this county goes, yet the tax-payers have the burden to bear. Judge George Rountree will preside at this court, he being the judge to preside under the new law which made this the new Eighth judicial district.

The county commissioners have ordered a complete auditing of the books of all the county officers, and the work is now being done by Mr. McCabe of Wilmington. This auding will cover the last two years.

Several Men Fined $50 and Costs for Violating Federal Game Law

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Greensboro, N. C., Sept. 3.—Judge Boyd is holding a special term of Federal Court here this week to try a number of criminal cases. Among these are a number of violations of the Federal statute forbidding trafficking in game birds across the State line. Several cases have already been disposed of, and in each case a fine of $50 and costs is being levied. Several retailing and illicit distilling cases will also come up the latter part of the week.

Thos. B. Farrington, an old offender was arrested yesterday by officers at his home in Summer township. He was found in a closet in his house, into which he had squeezed his corpulency. He gave a bond of $1,000 for his appearance at the criminal term of court Monday week.

The 20th annual opening of the Agricultural & Mechanical College for the negro race is the best in point of numbers the institution has ever had, as well as in many other respects. Several additions to the faculty have been made which have greatly strengthened it. The address to the students on the occasion of the opening by President Dudley was especially timely and well considered. He always gives his race good advice when he talks to its members.

The Greensboro Y. M. C. A. has inaugurated a membership campaign for renewals and new members. Several teams are at work and splendid results are expected from the canvassers. The young men are divided into two classes, known as the "Reds" and the 'Blues," and a lively rivalry between them has already been aroused.

Feet Slip While Attempting Fancy Terpsichorean Feat.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Kinston, N. C., Sept. 3.—Tom Leigh, a vaudevilleian, was the victim of an unusual accident in a local theatre today. Leigh is an eccentric dancer employed at a Queen Street shoehouse, and when he paid a visit to the musical comedy company doing the week at another theatre he got off some fancy steps for the edification of the troupe. The floor was slippery and in the midst of a new terpsichorean feat which Leigh claimed to have originated his feet shot from under him and he landed on his head. He was unconscious from the severe blow for some time. A doctor found that the bones about his right temple were all dented in, but none of them broken. The damage was not irreparable, however, and it is believed that the bones can be straightened out as good as ever.

SUMMARILY ENDS MEETING.

Chairman of County Commissioners Got Rid of Wrathy Delegation.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Kinston, N. C., Sept. 3.—Chairman Tull, of the Lenoir county commissioners, summarily adjourned the regular meeting of the board when charges of unfairness were made in regards to the county roads policy by a delegation of landowners who urged improvement of a road out of Kinston. There were about 25 in the party, and a warm discussion was had. When partiality for another section was claimed the chairman ordered the board adjourned. Business was resumed when the delegation had retired.

The man who one thinks will do to trust is sometimes the first to squeal to save his own bacon.

Our relations with Mexico are about like those which some people refuse to recognize tell they get rich.

Uncle Joe is going to run for Congress again. It is mighty hard for an old man to break off from a habit contracted in youth.

The market reports from Chicago say "hogs are steady." There is no wonder that hogs never decline. A hog never declines anything.

What did the old fashioned gentleman use to think of the "Mother Hubbard" dress that had no waist and just enough neck and sleeves to hold it on the wearer.

The Milwaukee Roosevelt Guards have eliminated the "Roosevelt" part of the name of their organization. Is the company exercising its common sense or guilty of treason?

Work on the farm isn't drudgery when there is money in it. Work of any kind is drudgery when the worker gets so little out of it that he despises his job. When a man is making "good sugar" he can get in love with his job.

Says a contemporary: "A woman laughed herself to death at Duluth." Was she laughing at Duluth, or did somebody mention what happened to Henry Lane Wilson after he had been instructed to leave Mexico and come on home?

If Huerta isn't constitutionally President, the Mexican constitutional bar against Presidents standing for reelection could not apply to him. Mexico is one country than has its full of third termism and more. Teddy ought to stick a pin here and quit wasting his time throwing his hat in the ring.

Making the store attractive will get business. How many people would thing of stopping to trade in a dingy, unkempt store? They would take it for a junkshop and get the idea that the goods are old and second-hand stock. The bright store with fresh goods well displayed and advertised properly is the store that's always busy.

Probably Guilford count is at outs with macadam roads because she did not build them properly and let them take care of themselves after they were built. That county is now giving the preference to the sand-clay road, but if they are not kept up they will also become unsatisfactory. All improved highways are good roads only so long as they are properly constructed and systematically cared for at all seasons of the year.

If oysters could thrive in fresh water, people up on the Catawba and the Yadkin would not lose any time in having oyster gardens so they could produce the luscious bivalves for the markets. Scientists tell us that oysters can't live in water that isn't at least seven per cent salt. As the Adriatic sea does not contain sufficient salt, oysters can not live in its waters. All around Wilmington we have all the salt water you are looking for but oyster gardens are few. That is the reason we are sending Wilmington money away for Norfolk oysters instead of shipping oysters ourselves.

WHAT TO DO WITH THE MONEY.

All sorts of ideas have prevailed about the decision of the Democratic administration to deposit $50,000,000 in the producing regions to aid in moving the crops. The comment has been made that the amount of money deposited in the South would not provide 50 cents a bale on the South's cotton crop, the idea suggested being that it would hardly be sufficient to help out the cause to any great extent.

However, the South is not going to move its 15,000,000 bales of cotton in a lump. The movement is hardly over 2,000,000 bales a month during the heaviest shipments, while the daily movement would be about 60,000 bales a day on the average. As the money will be turned over daily, weekly and monthly, it can be seen that the Treasury's aid will be of very material assistance in moving the crops. However, it was never conceived that the government deposits would be sufficient to move the crops but that it would supplement the hundreds of millions that are used in all the cotton growing States when it is not otherwise tied up.

The difficulty of moving the crop involves a scarcity of money for the pupose. Calling in loans and locking up the money makes loans hard to get, so the government's coming to the rescue really will serve a good purpose. It will greatly ease the money situation in a material way, but its greatest effect will be to give confidence to the Southern banks which otherwise might turn the lock on too much of their money. It is keeping money in circulation that will enable the crops to move, and if the government deposits will only cause the banks to loosen up, it will have tremendous effect in making Southern money matters easy. The general volume of money in the South will come out and circulate as the result of the confidence inspired by the Government deposits.

Republican politicians have attempted to create the impression that the administration's coming to the rescue of the producers in the South and West is "a grand stand play." Nevertheless, Republican administrations have sent deposits to New York to ease up the money market when trouble threatened on account of the gamblers in stocks and options. On many occasions that was done in emergencies. Probably that wasn't "a grandstand play" as seen through Republican spetacles. In fact, it was not a grandstand play on the part of a Republican administration any more than it is on the part of this Democratic administration.

It means business on the part of both, and it is a combination of ignorance and peanut politics that attempts to make any other impression. These government deposits are to relieve a situation in emergencies, and the relief has come in the South by way of quieting apprehension about the supply of money necessary in business. It is good government financiering to use public funds North, or South, or West when it is apparent that any situation can be relieved. The Charlotte Chronicle makes a good point in thus referring to the situation there:

"The banks of Charlotte are able to very largely cope with the crop-moving situation without the aid of the Government loan, according to their own testimony and some of the officials of the local institutions have figures available showing just how far they have been going in the past in taking care of the farmers. This may all be so and yet the acquirement of some of this Government distribution ought to enable them to take care of other interests more successfully and satisfactorily than they have in the past. They will not be allowed to appropriate any of this government money to any other purpose than that of assisting in the movement of the crops, but they can use it for this cause and take the money they have been running the farmers on and divert it into some other channel. In this way it will prove doubly beneficial and strengthening to the tone of the market here."

Plenty of money is the main thing to be considered—plenty of it in circulation and not locked up. Plenty of money means help for cotton buyers, sellers, merchants and bankers, all of whom get relief when the medium goes from one to the other, and then back to the banks. Many millions of dollars in business can be carried on with a million dollars kept constantly in circulation.

UNCLE SAM'S LANDS

So long as the government has lands to practically give away, Uncle Sam will be a competitor with landowners everywhere in the sale of farms. Most of the government lands are in the West and Alaska, and when Uncle Sam opens his land to entry there is always a rush because the homeseeker thinks he is getting something for about nothing.

The land office reports that the government yet owns 62,000,000 acres of land. More than half that area is in Alaska but the New York World says there are in the United States enough public lands to make ten States the size of New York! It is said the government's remaining land in the West would support a grain-growing population of 15,000,000, not counting the many more millions that could occupy the cities that would spring up were the public lands settled as thickly as the average Western State. It is estimated that there is room enough on the public lands for 60,000,000 people. Commenting upon the government's remaining land, the New York World says:

"Of course it is not all available. Much of the land will apparently always remain worthless. Much can be made useful by drainage, dry-farming, terracing or irrigation. The proportion of land so reclaimed will depend upon economic conditions and the pressure of population. But there is certainly room for some millions more of farming population upon public lands."

We have often wondered why people continue to go West and try to build up homes under such conditions when they could come South, buy lands at reasonable prices, soon pay for them and have the great advantage of being near the markets supplying 30,000,000 of this country's population. Why should they go West and be disappointed or go to Canada and later realize their mistake? A population practically equalling that of the entire State of North Carolina has emigrated to Canada from our Northern and Northwestern States, but it is said thousands of them are coming back if they are able to do so. Says the Philadelphia Record:

"Recent statistics indicate that the craze in the Middle West for emigration to Canada is on the wane. It has lasted a dozen years, and in that time from 1,500,000 to 2,000,000 Americans have crossed the border line to make their home under the British flag. All the high hopes entertained have not been realized, and of late there has been a very general apprehension of the collapse of the boom Canada has so long enjoyed. So some farmers are trekking backward, and the outward flow is diminishing. The movement is the only one where Americans have left their own country in great numbers to become citizens of a foreign country."

Is North Carolina ready to attract some of the people who seem to want to leave Canada? Have we any plans to submit to those who might be induced to come South? We have not, but we certainly ought to have them. A Northern gentleman said to us yesterday that he was astonished that Northern people do not come South by the thousands. He said it could not be expected that well-to-do people should pull up pegs and come South, but there are thousands of worthy poor families that would welcome the chance to get homes and farms in the South. They need a little assistance to enable them to come and settle but he says they would soon get on their feet and make the most desirable settlers that the South could get.

THE STANDARD COTTON BALE

The difference in the size of cotton bales in the South has gotten to the point where it is causing trouble. Some Southern Senators have protested to the Inter-State Commerce Commission against the railroad regulation requiring cotton bales to be packed in uniform sizes. While it is reasonable to make a protest, we can't very well see how the commission can help the situation. It is not so much a requirement on the part of the railroads as it is a plain proposition in the interest of economy on the part of the carriers and the shippers.

The adoption of a standard size bale is not arbitrary and nobody need comply with it if they are willing to pay the penalty. It is merely an economic question, since it costs the railroads more to carry over-sized or irregular-sized bales than if they were uniform in size. The carriers cannot get as many bales in a car as they can when all the bales are uniform in size, hence it follows that the freight rate on irregular-sized bales must necessarily be greater than for uniform bales. The railroads cannot afford to lose money on irregular-sized bales, and neither can the farmers, and as somebody will be compelled to be the loser it will be cheaper for all to adopt the standard size. It is a matter of changing the size of the lint boxes of the cotton presses at the ginneries. It is more economical to do that, as the percentage of irregularly-packed bales is comparatively small. As the easiest and cheapest way is always the best way, the standard size bale should be adopted everywhere.

It is said, however, it is not so much the railroads as it is the steamship carriers who require the bales to be standard. Ocean freights are regulated by the number of bales that can be jack-screwed into the holds of a ship. The simple truth is, more standard bales can be carried in either ships or cars than bales of varying size. It is plain, therefore, that a ship can hold more of the standard size and that the less will be the freight rate as a consequence. It is clearly in the interest of the cotton growers to have a uniform bale, as it is they who have the brunt to bear. If there is any dockage or excessive freights it falls back on the farmer.

Since the Inter-State Commerce Commission cannot control the steamship companies, it is plain that the protests will amount to nothing. All other cotton-growing countries have adopted the standard bale and the South will have to do so, else pay the freight.

COMPLETE THE SEWER SYSTEM.

For the sum of $75,000 it is estimated that the city can complete its sewer system according to the original plans of the city engineer, and while the money must be borrowed and borrowed at a time when money is scarce and commanding higher rates of interest than is ordinarily the case, it is the part of wisdom to negotiate a loan and give this modern city a modern system of sewerage—the thing that is most needed.

The funds available for sewer extension, something more than $100,000, have been practically exhausted in the work that has been going on for several month, and this work must soon cease unless additional funds can be secured. We understand that the city can effect a loan for the amount needed and we hope that this will be done as advantageously as possible and the sewer work pushed to completion. Health conditions demand it and in the long run, what with disease, sanitary cans and one thing and another, it will cost the city more than the amount needed to finish the work.

GOING UNDER THE RIVERS

Sooner or later ferry boats in New York will be a thing of the past for general travel and traffic. Trains and traffic will go under the river through subways or tubes that are being constructed beneath the bottom of the rivers. Last Sunday in New York, the first section of the new Lexington avenue Harlem river subway tube was sunk off 138th street by the contractors. It was 200 feet long and weighed 750 tons. The tubing is steel and it will later be covered with concrete.

There will be four parallel tubes to accommodate the four railroad tracks that are to run under the river at this point. The total length of the tunnel will be 1,080 feet. The first section of the tube was laid with mathematical precision by tugs and derricks above and divers below. There was not a hitch, the work being accomplished by the accurate work of surveyors and engineers.

CURRENT COMMENT.

It seems that we will get from the railroads just about what we take from them.—Durham Herald.

A man picked up a newspaper the other day and was startled to see the name of William H. Taft in box car letters on the first page. Then he noticed that the paper was two years old.—Birmingham Age-Herald.

We have said it before, but it may not be out of place to again remark, that meat is going up in price, and just now because of the drought. Next Winter it will be because the snow will cover the ground, and the cattle cannot live on snow.—Chester (Pa.) Republican.

No one would attempt to say that the colored reform school is not badly needed. Constantly the city courts of the State are put to it to decide what to do with the negro boys who are either orphans or have been deserted by their parents and have drifted into vice and crime. There is no place where these children can be sent at present except to jail or the chaingang, and this quickly develops them into hardened criminals. It would be cheaper for the State to pay for teaching them a useful trade and getting them away from the conditions that breed vice and crime, developing them into good citizens, than to have them constantly as a charge and a menace to society.—Charlotte Observer.

The Record had something to say recently about the effort to upset the sale of the old C. F. & Y. V. R. R. to the Southern. For a very good reason those having the matter in charge are not showing their hands, by reason of which our ideas on the subject were wrong. We hope, and so stated in the article referred to, that the sale can be declared void. It was a nefarious transaction; of this there is no doubt. The point we were unable to understand when the article was written was what would result should the fight be successful, what would the people of the State gain by it. We know now what would result, although it is not advisable to mention it at present. If the contention is sustained it will be the greatest thing for the people of the State that has ever happened. It may take some time to carry it through, for the Southern will fight it hard and use every means of procrastination at its command, but from the information now at hand, there is no reason why the whole matter should not be set aside for it will be shown that it was illegal and in violation of the Sherman law.—Greensboro Record.

"WOT TELL'S DE YUSE?"

To the Editor of The Star:

Another communication from Father Dennen in this morning's paper calls for a few more broken remarks from me.

For his information I will state that the difference between the newspaper copy of Dr. Rankin's letter wherein it was stated he had consulted a "number of State Board of Health" and my reply in which I refer to the fact that he had consulted "a member of the State Board of Health," was noticed by me at once. I was provoked that the printer should have made such a mistake and was inclined to correct it, but as I was strictly correct in my quotation and the printer in error I determined to let the matter pass and suffer the blame to fall on me, hoping that by my silence the clearing of the waters, which seemed then to be in progress, would be hastened.

Father Dennen seems particularly pleased that he has secured an opportunity to muddy them still further. As he has plainly intimated that I deliberately misrepresented Dr. Rankin and as he can ascertain (if he wishes the truth), that I quoted Dr. Rankin accurately, it would appear that an apology was due from him. I have no idea that he will take the trouble to ascertain the truth ("just to keep history straight"), or make the apology.

His whole screed is such a perversion of facts that one is forced to the conclusion that it is his spleen and not his colon which has become infected and that to arrive at the true cause of his vituperation one must look much farther than a mere desire to exercise a fatherly oversight of the health of the community. His contemptible insinuation that some influence has caused the pigeonholing of the findings of grand juries discloses the animus of a muckraking politician.

A further analysis of his enlightening article might furnish entertainment but as Chimmie Fadden would remark "Wot Tell's De Yuse?"

M. S. WILLARD.

(Note: Through an error in The Star office in transcribing the letter of Dr. Rankin from the reporter's note book "number" was substituted for "member," causing the trouble.—Star.)

The Independent Ice Company

Wishes to remind the users of Ice that several years ago, when we were the only manufacturers and distributors of Ice in and around Wilmington that we did not attempt to put up the price, but maintained the same old schedul that had been in force years before, although we had every opportunity to name any list of prices we saw fit. This is a cold-blooded fact, as cold and clear as any ice ever made in Wilmington, and is well worth public consideration, for the average Ice Maker would have without any hesitation put up the price, but that has never been the Independent Ice Company's way of doing business.

Two years, or more, ago, we were largely instrumental, through the medium of The Central Ice Company, of which we were large owners, of having a Special Ice Train put on at 6:00 A. M., to serve the Trolley Line patrons, at city prices.

For these considerations, we are not posing as public benefactors. They were simply good business moves, as we saw them. As for ice by other Beach trains than 6:00 A. M., the prices now in effect are the same that have prevailed for years past.

We wish to further remind the public of the superior services, and the full weight deliveries they have this season, the lack of which conditions caused such widespread complaints the past two years, when we were not directly engaged in the city delivery of ice.

That our ice and our services are appreciated is attested by the fact that our sales are 25 % or more greater this Summer than ever before.

REGULAR MEETING OF BOARD

Several Matters Considered by Council Yesterday Morning—Report of the Street Work for August. Scavenging Considered.

With Mayor Moore presiding and all members in attendance, the regular weekly meeting of the City Council was held yesterday morning. In attendance also were Capt. Thos. D. Meares, city clerk and treasurer, and City Attorney Bryan. Aside from the matters of special interest as told of elsewhere in today's paper, there was other business of more or less importance.

City Attorney Bryan submitted a written opinion as to the notes given by the city to the Decarie Incinerator Company to cover the balance of $24,000 due on the incinerator, recommending that the Council make no change in the form of the notes which had been requested by the incinerator company. The recommendation of the city attorney was adopted. A representative of the incinerator company was present, and he then asked that the city change the notes so as to make the interest payable semi-annually, saying that this would make them negotiable. There was no objection to this change, and it was so ordered by resolution offered by Councilman Chadwick.

Permit was granted to Mr. J. E. Cowell to erect a barber sign in front of his shop at No. 21 Princess street.

The statement from Mr. Jas E. Holton, of the Street department, filed with the city clerk and treasurer Tuesday, giving an inventory of the teams and other effects turned over to the city by the health department and also a statement of the condition of the disposal basin in the southern part of the city, was read to the Council and ordered placed on file. It was stated by the city clerk and treasurer for the information of the Council that the inventory furnished by Mr. Holton showed a shortage in horses, harness, sanitary cans and lids, as compared with the inventory furnished the city clerk and treasurer on June 1st by the health department.

Mr. E. Y. Davis, of the new market firm of Davis & Hintze, formerly of the firm of Hopkins, Davis & Hintze, appeared before the Council and asked for a lease for his firm for a term of four years on the space in the Front Street Market now occupied by Mr. J. H. Holland. Mr. Davis asked for a lease of four years, so as to have it terminate at the same time as the five-year lease granted last year to Hopkins, Davis & Hintze, and now held by the firm of J. J. Hopkins & Son. He was willing to pay for the space $50 a month, and will agree to put in sanitary equipment costing $3,500. He further agrees to have it stipulated in the contract that if at any time during that period the firm of Hopkins, Davis & Hintze is re-established, the firm of Davis and Hintze will surrender its lease. Mr. Holland's term expires October 1st, at which time Davis & Hintze hope to begin making improvements. Councilman Loughlin, who has charge of the markets, stated that he saw no valid objection to leasing the space to the firm, and recommended that it be done. It was the sense of the Council that the space would be leased to Davis & Hintze, but the formal contract is to be drafted and adopted at a later meeting. In reply to a question from Mayor Moore, Mr. Davis stated that his firm is not in any way connected with the firm of J. J. Hopkins & Son.

Council declined to change the tax ordinance so as to reduce the tax on merry go-rounds, as requested by Mr. Dwyer, who has a merry go-round to arrive here in a few days from New York. He expected to start out from this city, and wanted to spend 30 days here with his machine, provided the tax of $5 a day was decreased to a more reasonable amount. Members of Council admitted that the tax was excessive, but stated that they could not disturb the tax ordinance at this period in the fiscal year, as it would be establishing a bad precedent.

Councilman Merritt was authorized to dispose of two horses in his department and to purchase one more suited to the work.

A communication was received from Mr. Jas. E. Holton with regard to collections for scavenging service. He stated that upon examining the books taken over from the health department he found that there were many persons who have not paid for the service, some owing for as far back as 18 months.

Councilman Wood suggested that a tax be levied on the closets, which would be a lien on the property until paid. Councilman Merritt said that he had suggested that those who do not pay be indicted by health officers for keeping unsanitary premises. This plan will be followed for the immediate future, to see how it will work out.

Councilman Jones said that he thought he could secure a bid of $5,500 for the fire station property at corner of Sixth and Castle streets, which was offered at auction Monday, but did not attract a single bidder. It was stated by Mayor Moore that the property could not be sold at private sale. It is likely that the property will be re-advertised.

A bill from Mr. James Owen Reilly against the city for $17 for damages to a horse and buggy was presented for payment. The horse stepped into an excavation made by the sewerage contractors, it was stated, and City Attorney Bryan said that he thought the contractors were liable and could be held for any damage that may have been sustained. The claim will be presented to the company for payment.

Street Work in August.

Mr. John C. McAlister, superintendent of streets, submitted the following report for August:

"Mr. B. A. Merritt, Councilman.

"Dear Sir: I beg to report the following work done for the month of August:

"Have delivered 91 loads of sweepings to George H. Hutaff, $22.75. Thoroughly cleaned all improved streets every Friday and Saturday, including all alleys, in downtown district. Cleaned and removed accumulated dirt and grass from gutters on following streets: Red Cross, Front to Tenth; Walnut, Second to Seventh; Grace, Second to Ninth; Chestnut, Second to Seventh; Dock, Second to Ninth; Orange, Front to Ninth; Ann, Front to Sixth; Nun, Front to Sixth; Market, Tenth to Seventeenth; Third, Red Cross to Campbell; Campbell, Third to Fifth; Fifth, Campbell to Nixon; Brunswick, Third to Fourth, and cut weeds from sidewalks.

"For benefit of firemen's tournament, removed curbing and built 1,200 feet of fence and had men on track every day to keep in good condition for the racing.

"Patched Water street from Market to Grace. Graded Queen street from Surry street to the river. Had to put in 110 feet of 12-inch pipe on Fifth street from sand traps between Chestnut and Grace streets, same being broken and not carrying off water. Also built manhole.

"Built sand traps and set 125 feet curbing at union station. Built storm sewer and ran 70 feet 12-inch pipe at Fifth and Wooster streets. Rebuilt storm sewer at Front and Castle streets.

"Thoroughly cleaned all sand traps in the city.

"Removed trees and graded sidewalk on Hanover street, from Third to Fourth.

"The storm of August 29th caused nine washouts, which were attended to the following day.

"Unloaded a car load of blocks at Second and Campbell streets, and hauled 550 feet of curbing for Second street from Red Cross to Campbell.

"Removed several large stumps at Sixteenth, between Princess and Market streets. Built 70 feet of walk on wharf at foot of Princess street. Delivered the following trash to incinerator with nine teams: 212 wagon loads, 202 long cart loads, and 755 dump loads, a total of 1,169 loads, agreeing with record kept by engineer at incinerator."

FIRE DESTROYS RESIDENCE

Mr. D. M. Beardsley's Home at Seagate Burned Yesterday Morning—Caused by Lamp Explosion—Loss $5,000

Fire, supposed to have been caused by an explosion of a lamp, burned the residence of Mr. D. M. Beardsley, local manager for the Singer Sewing Machine Co. at Seagate yesterday morning about 2:30 o'clock. Mr. Beardsley estimates his loss at $5,000 with $2,000 insurance. When the fire broke out Mr. Beardsley was asleep in the residence, and had it not been for the timely arrival of Mr. L. B. Miles, who lives nearby, he would probably have been suffocated by the flames and smoke.

Mr. Miles had come to the city in an automobile to meet the 1:15 train on which his grandmother, Mrs. Elizabeth Hogue, was coming to visit him. Immediately after the arrival of the train he left for Seagate, reaching there a little after 2 o'clock. When he got to his home he noticed that there was smoke across the car track, and went over to find out its cause. He found that Mr. Beardsley's home was on fire, and knowing that Mr. Beardsley was alone in the house he attempted to kick the door down which caused him to wake up.

Mr. Beardsley has not been able to sleep for the last several nights, and had taken some medicine to induce sleep. He was sleeping very soundly, and did not know that the fire had broken out. As soon as the door was opened the flames which had been burning between the walls for some time immediately burst out, and soon the house was in ashes. There was a strong northeast wind blowing which caused it to burn rapidly.

Had it not been raining at the time it is probable that other residences would have been burned as the wind blew sparks for a distance of several hundred yards. Mr. Miles, with the assistance of Mr. Liston Larkins and others who lived nearby endeavored to save some of the furniture but with little success as the fire had gained such headway that it was impossible to remove it. Practically the only thing saved was a piano.

The fire department of Wilmington, was notified but on account of the severe wind that was blowing it was not thought best to take the chemical engine out. As Seagate is about eight miles from Wilmington it is unlikely that the firemen could have reached the scene before the house was destroyed.

Mr. Beardsley's family was not at home, his wife and son being at Savannah, Ga., on a visit to relatives, and his daughter at Raleigh on a visit to friends, and he was alone in the house. He has been suffering with ill-health for some time, and has been especially subject to insomnia. With the aid of drugs he had finally gone to sleep only a short time before the fire was discovered.

It is supposed that the fire was caused by the explosion of a lamp which was burning on the hearth of the room in which Mr. Beardsley was sleeping. Later it was discovered that it was broken. The fire may have caught in the lattice work near the hearth as it is stated that there was a small portion where the plastering had fallen off, and had not been replaced.

This is the third fire that has occurred at Seagate this Summer, and brings to mind again the suggestion that some means should be taken to have better fire protection in that vicinity. There is no water supply available, and it is pointed out that the only plan that could be worked would be to have small fire extinguishers which could be placed at convenient points. The neighbors worked heroically yesterday morning to stop the spread of the flames but could do little with the means at their command.

FUNERAL OF DR. CULBRETH

Services from Grace Methodist Church—Interment at Whiteville

The funeral of Dr. N. M. Culbreth, who died Monday night at the home of his son, Dr. N. A. Culbreth, was held yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock from Grace Methodist church, conducted by the pastor, Rev. J. D. Bundy. Many friends from the city and out of town attended the services. The floral offerings were many and beautiful. Following the services the body was taken to the union station and carried to Whiteville on the 3:15 train where the interment was made in the family plot in the Whiteville cemetery. A large number of friends and relatives accompanied the remains to Whiteville.

The pallbearers were: Honorary, Dr. A. M. Baldwin, Capt. W. F. Corbett, Col. T. W. Clawson and Messrs. W. E. Springer, E. L. Prince and John D. Bellamy; active, Messrs. Roger Moore, W. B. Cooper, R. G. Grady, C. C. Covington, J. B. Mercer and H. M. Foard.

FUNERAL OF MR. SMITH

Services From the Brooklyn Baptist Baptist Church This Afternoon

This afternoon at 4:30 o'clock the funeral of Mr. Samuel L. Smith, who died at his home, No. 709 North Fifth street, Tuesday night, will be held from Brooklyn Baptist church, and will be conducted by his former pastor and close friend, Rev. R. E. Peele, of Burgaw, assisted by Rev. J. A. Sullivan, pastor of Brooklyn Baptist church, and Rev. W. E. Cox rector of St. John's Episcopal church. The interment will be in Oakdale cemetery. Mr. Smith was one of the charter members of Brooklyn Baptist church, and for many years took a prominent part in carrying on the work of the church. He had been a trustee of the church since its organization.

FUNDS TO COMPLETE PLANT

City Council Will Likely Negotiate Loans for $75,000 to Finish Extension of Sewerage System.

Citizens generally will be pleased to learn that there is a strong probability that the city will negotiate a loan within the next few days for $75,000 with which to complete the extension of the existing municipal sewerage system, City Engineer Pillet in a recent report to the Council having stated that only this amount additional would be necessary to sewer all the territory covered in his original plans for the extensions in the northern, eastern and southern sections of the city.

That the city will able to negotiate a loan for this amount for the purpose named was the gratifying information conveyad to members of the Council by Mayor Moore at a conference immediately following the regular session yesterday morning. The information was most enthusiastically received and it is expected that definite action will be taken today or tomorrow, when the details of the proposition will be made public.

Announcement of the probability that within a few months Wilmington will have a complete sewerage system—lack of which has been the bone of so much contention in recent years—is news that will be as pleasing as it is unexpected to the people of the city. It seems almost too good to be true that before a great while now the sewerage system will be extended to all parts of the city, reducing to a minimum the surface closets which have afforded an excuse for the use of columns and columns of newspaper space in the past few years, and, physicians claim, have also been the cause of many preventable deaths in the many years they have been in use here. That the excuse for the existence of these makeshifts is soon to be eliminated by affording a truly sanitary method of disposing of refuse in these outlying districts is but the fulfilment of the hope of the people when they voted bonds with which to purchase the existing sewerage system and to extend the plant as far as the money remaining would go.

The system was purchased last year after a long period of negotiations with the Wilmington Sewerage Company, $30,000 being paid in cash and the remaining $100,000 being covered by a mortgage on the property. After paying the $30,000 on the established system the city had left in the treasury about $100,000 with which to begin the extension of the sewer lines in the outlying districts. The contract was awarded for sewering the entire territory covered in the plans of the engineer, but the contracting firm agreed that when the money available for the work gave out they would quit and resume the work when the city was able to complete it. Nearly all of the available money has been expended and in a few weeks now the work will stop unless the loan is negotiated as proposed. According to the estimate of the city engineer the $75,000 will be sufficient to complete the system.

Water and Sewerage Rents.

In this connection might be given the report of City Attorney Bryan to the City Council at the regular meeting yesterday morning on the question of the power of the city to collect water and sewerage rents from delinquents. The report of the city attorney follows:

"September 2nd, 1913.

"To the Honorable Mayor and Council of the City of Wilmington, Wilmington, N. C.

"Gentlemen: I have investigated the right of the city to collect water and sewerage rent, and in my opinion, the city can enforce the payment of its water rent, either by suit or by cutting off the water, if the water rent is not paid in accordance with the charges fixed by the city for the water.

"In regard to the sewerage, the law making it compulsory for parties owning the property to connect, the city could bring suit against the owner of the property and in my opinion recover judgment for the sewerage rent and when the judgment is docketed, would be a lien upon the premises, but that lien, in my opinion, would be subject to the right of the debtor to his homestead exemption.

"I don't think that the city would have a right to cut off the use of the sewer, due to the fact that the ordinances make it compulsory to have sewerage and the health laws, of coure, would have to be considered, therefore, if any person who owes sewerage rent refuses to pay, suit should be brought against the property owner and the claim put in judgment in order to prevent the conveyance of the property by insolvent debtors, but it impresses me that a property owner would be very short sighted if he refused to pay sewerage rents when the cost entailed in obtaining a judgment would be almost as great as the sewerage rent and the incumbrance against the property, in the event of suit, would therefore be double because the judgment obtained would carry costs against the owner of the property.

Very truly yours,
"E. K. BRYAN,
"City Attorney."

Following the reading of the opinion of the city attorney, Councilman Merritt moved that the city attorney be instructed to proceed to the collection of all sewerage rents that are past due.

Councilman Wood said that this would mean a large number of suits being brought, and as a solution offered his proposition that sewerage be given free and that enough be added to the water rents to make up the difference. He said that he was going to put the question before the people for a vote as soon as he returns to the city to live from Southport, where he has been spending the Summer. He expects also to submit to a vote of the people several other reforms which he has consistently agitated ever since his election.

City Attorney Bryan said that the city has the right to cut off the water when the patron has failed to pay but that the sewerage could not be legally cut off, because the health regulations require sewerage connections and thus it would resolve itself into a criminal action to collect a debt, which is forbidden by our constitution. The old charter of the Wilmington Sewerage Co., he said, gives the city the right to make the sewerage rent a lien on the property.

The motion of Councilman Merritt was seconded by Councilman Jones and carried without a dissenting vote. Councilman Wood remarked, however that it was just throwing away money, but it could be tried, this collection of sewerage rents by suits.

CITY'S POSITION EXPLAINED

Council Hears Statements of Councilmon Wood and Chemist Catlett Will Make Needed Improvements.

City Council in regular weekly session yesterday morning spent considerable time in hearing from Councilman Wood, in charge of the Department of Water and Sewerage, and Mr. Geo. F. Catlett, the chemist in charge of the waterworks plant, with reference to the finding of colon bacilli in the water and also with regard to the improvements at the waterworks plant that have been asked by the Board of Health.

It developed during the discussion that the same improvements that have recently been sought by the County Board of Health were asked for by the chemist and the health department during the previous administration. This fact was probably brought out to show that all the blame for the failure to secure the equipment at the waterworks plant should not be charged to the prescent administation, which Councilman Wood stated had used its best efforts to make the improvements because it is recognized that they are important and are needed.

When the report of his department was called for Councilman Wood said that he did not have anything to report except that certain statements made by Dr. Nesbitt, county superintendent of health, with reference to the purchase of filter sand and the request for other improvements at the waterworks plant needed explanation. He said that Dr. Nesbitt tries mighty hard to put everything on his office; why the Councilman did not know, for, he declared, his department has endeavered to do everything that he wants done. As to the apparatus for applying chlorine gas, he said that his department was delayed only a week or so in getting off the order, but that the real delay occurred with the people from whom the apparatus was ordered. In the matter of connecting the settling basins, he said that he recalled that there was discussion of the subject on the Council, but he was never authorized to make the change and without authority from the Council he had no right to take action. However, he had been informed by Mr. Sweeney, the engineer at the plant, that the basins ought really to be connected and he would recommend to Council that this be authorized. The authority was given by Council. Councilman Wood next spoke of the delay in placing an order for the filter sand, stating that it was due mainly to the fact that the sand dealers, several of them, had written in reply to request for prices on specifications furnished that the specifications were so unusual and called for sand so entirely different from that furnished other cities that they would be unable to fill the order. Finally, he said, the question of buying the sand was taken out of his hands altogether and Mr. Catlett was sent by Mayor Moore to Norfolk, where he made arrangement by which sand answering the purposes here was purchased, a car of which was received on Tuesday, he had been informed. He thought that his department had done its full duty in an efort to carry out the wishes of the health department.

Councilman Wood declared that in his opinion there would be trouble with the water as long as the intake remains where it is now located with the sewage emptying into the river as it does and laid down the proposition, as he has ofter done before, that the only solution of the matter is in the sinking of deep wells.

Mayor Moore agreed with Councilman Wood that there would be trouble with the water unitl the intake was moved to some other point and he added that this would have to be done soon er or latter, proferably sooner.

Mr. W. E. Merritt, superindent of the Water and Sewerage Department, stated that the purchase of the sand and the connecting of the settling basins was asked for last year.

Mr. Geo. F. Catlett, the chemist, who is charged with the treatment of the water to keep it pure by the application of chemicals, explained that Dr. Nesbiee was not trying to put all the blame on the office of the Water and Sewerage Department as now consitituted, but that the same delay was mainfested by the last administartion, save that the last administration never did actually begin the improvements asked for while a start has been made by the present administration. Mr. Catlett said that based on the report of Mr. Whipple, the expert who made an examination of the water supply, equipment, etc., soon after going into office he recommended the immediate connection of the settling basins, installation of a chlorinization apparatus and the purchase of sand. He then explained the importance of all three improvements and asserted that all he was able to get out of the old administration was promises.

So on June 2nd when the presence of colon bacilli was discovered he made report direct to the County Board of Health, feeling that this body would be more successful in securing the improvements which were imperative.

Mr. Catlett stated that he considered himself an official of the city just as much as he is of the health department and that he is endeavoring to serve both in a manner that is for the best interests of the city. He is engaged to look after the water and that he is trying to do, he said.

He then called attention of the Council to some other improvements that are needed at the plant and the Council gave him very careful attention. In fact, it might be started here that the remarks of Mr. Catlett went a long ways toward bringing about a better feeling and understanding between the health department and the Council, especially as regards the water and sewerage department. A fence is needed around the property and Councilman Wood is to secure estimates as to the cost by the next meeting. The fire alarm box is not in working order and has not been in months, said Mr. Catlett, consequently the pumping station is not advised when there is a fire in the city so as to be ready in case of serious conflagration. He strongly urged that the box be put in order. Mr. G. T. Williamson, superintendent of fire alarm, was present and explained that he had not received complaint as to the box until Tuesday and that it would immediately be put in good order.

Mr. Catlett also called attention to some other minor improvements needed at the plant.

Councilman Merritt asked Mr. Catlett what he thought of the sand in this section for filter beds. He said in reply that there is plenty of good sand here and that he had suggested to a local man of means the possibilities of a plant for preparing the sand for filters. The sand for filters has to be of uniform size, necessitating that it go through a sifting apparatus as well through other processes. He did not know whether it would pay the city to install an apparatus or not, but suggested that it might be well to look into the matter.

Councilman Merritt also asked him some questions relative to effect of chemicals on the water. He said that there are no chemicals in the water as it reaches the patrons. He promised to look into the cause of pipes being eaten up by the water. Councilman Wood said that it was not until the work of applying chemicals began that he had to have closets relined.

In concluding his remarks Mr. Catlett said that he did not think it at all necessary to condemn the water on account of the presence of colon bacilli on the two occasions mentioned, for by the application of a little more chlorine this had disappeared entirely and with the installation of the improvemets there will not be cause for further trouble.

"No, I do not think so, either," said Councilman Wood, "I think the water will be all right so far as the presence of colon bacilli is concerned just as soon as these improvements are made."

It was explained at the meeting by Mr. Catlett and others that the presence of colon bacilli does not nesecarily mean that the water is poluted with typhoid germs, but that it is contaminated with sewage and is, therefore, a danger signal, which had been recognized and the remedy applied.

As stated above it was ordered that the settling basins be connected so as to give longer time for chemical action and thus decolorize the water, the color now being a big objection to the water, and also Councilman Wood was requested to secure estimates of the cost of a fence around the property at the waterworks plant.

Upon motion of Councilman Jones the recommendation of Councilman Merritt that Mr. J. D. Lowry be awarded a contract at $175 to drill a deep well on the city property in the northeastern part of the city was carried. Councilman Merritt was authorized to enter into the contract with Mr. Lowry.

A communication from Dr. Nesbitt asking that his office be given notice permits for plumbing connections as they are isued received immediate attention of Council, Mr. W. E. Merritt, superintendent of the Water and Sewerage Department, being requested to supply this information. Mr. Merritt denied that he had ever received a letter from Dr. Nesbitt asking for this information.

Permission was granted for Mr. Arthur Branch, of the Water and Sewerage Department, to remove a portion of the old city stables on Harnet street to his home, so that he can build a stable there for his horse, which is used by the city. This was done on account of the fact that it will greatly facilitate Mr. Branch's work to have his horse at his home instead of at the city stables.

THE RECORDER'S COURT.

Two Automobilists Taxed With The Costs—Other Cases.

The Recorder yesterday taxed Mr. H. H. Jones with the costs in a case against him for running an automobile at night without having lights displayed on the rear of his machine. Mr. Waldo Moore was taxed the costs for exceeding the speed limit with his machine. The Recorder announced his intention to fine those who in the future are found to violate the automobile law. Charles Scarboro, was sent to the county farm for 30 days for beating his way on a train Tuesday night. In default of the payment of the costs "Boody" Jordan, colored, was sent to the county farm for 30 days.

MR. NORMAN J. HERRING AND MISS MARGARET BEATTY

Yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock at South River Presbyterian church, near Garland, Mr. Norman J. Herring and Miss Margaret H. Beatty were united in marriage, the officiating ministers being Rev. Dr. A. D. McClure, of Wilmington, and Rev. E. B. Carr, pastor of the church. The church was prettily decorated for the occasion, and there were a large number of friends and relatives present. The young couple left last night on a wedding trip of ten days after which they will be at home near Garland where the groom is a prominent young farmer. His father is a former deacon of St. Andrew's Presbyterian church of this city. The bride's parents live near Tomahawk, and she is one of the most popular young ladies of that section.

PRETTY WEDDING CEREMONY HERE YESTERDAY AFTERNOON

A pretty wedding was solemnized yesterday afternoon at 5:45 o'clock at the home of Mr. Samuel M. King, No. 513 Nun street, when his charming and attractive daughter, Miss Jennette Keith King, became the bride of Mr. Leonard Franklin Gore, the officiating minister being Rev. Dr. J. H. Foster pastor of the First Baptist church.

As the soft strains of Lohengrin's Chorus were being played the bridal procession entered in the following order: The groom with his brother, Mr. C. F. Gore, of Weldon, who was best man, and the maid of honor, Miss Keith King, a sister of the bride. Last to enter was the bride on the arm of her father.

The music for the occasion was beautifully and skilfully rendered by Mrs. C. B. Newcomb. During the ceremony McDowell's "To a Wild Rose," was softly and sweetly played. Following the ceremony Mendelssohn's Wedding March was rendered.

The bride was handsomely attired in a going-away suit of navy blue with hat and gloves to match and carried a beautiful bunch of Bride roses. The maid of honor was dressed in white over yellow, and carried a bouquet of white China astas.

After the ceremony the many friends of the young couple who had gathered to witness the happy event offered their hearty congratulations and best wishes for a long and happy wedded life.

Following this a reception was given in honor of the bride and groom. Light refreshments were served. The refreshment table was presided over by Mrs. S. H. Burtt while Misses Mary Tripp and Beatrice Carter had charge of the punch bowl. After the reception the young couple went to the union station where amid a shower of rice they boarded the 6:45 train. They will visit Asheville, Hendersonville and other points in Western North Carolina.

Those who served at the reception were Misses Maud Powers, Jane Foster, and Messrs. Donald King, brother of the bride; Edgar Warren and Marsden Gore, brother of the groom. The receiving line was composed of Misses Mary and Lucile Riley, Margaret Pearsall and Anna Mae Gore.

The home was beautifully and tastefully decorated with living plants and Southern smilax.

Both the bride and groom are very popular among a large circle of friends, being leaders in many different religious and social organizations. The bride was for three years city missionary of the First Baptist church, and was also leader of the Sunbeams as well as holding an office in the Baptist Young People's Union. The groom is a deacon in the First Baptist church, and is president of the Baptist Young People's Union. He holds a position in the cashier's office of the Atlantic Coast Line.

Upon their return they will be at home at No. 513 Nun street, until October 1st at which time they will remove to No. 709 Grace street.

Besides the large number of beautiful and expensive presents given the young couple three showers were given by their friends at which numbers of attractive presents were received. Miss Nellie Pickard gave a kitchen shower, the Young Woman's Auxiliary gave a linen shower at the home of Mrs. J. H. Foster and Misses Julia and Eliza Hayes gave a miscellaneous shower.

DEATH RATE IS DECREASING

With an Increase in Population Health Statistics Show That Number of Deaths in Wilmington Have Diminished.

That Wilmington is a good place in which to live is demonstrated by health statistics on file at the health department which show that although there has been an increase of population of 4,195 since 1911 there were 160 less death for the first eight months of 1913 than for the corresponding period of 1911. In other words there has been an increase of 16.3 per cent. in population and a decrease of 28.8 per cent. in the number of deaths.

The temporary death rate per thousand for the first eight months of 1911 was 32; for 1912, 23.8; and for 1913, 19.3. The decrease in the temporary death rate for the first eight months in 1913 and for the same period in 1911, was 12.8 and 4.5 for the same period in 1912.

The population of Wilmington in 1911 was 25,748, by the United States census and the number of deaths for 552. In 1912 the population was 28,051, according to the census of the health department, and the number of deaths up until September 1st was 427. In 1913 the population is 29,943, and the number of deaths up until September 1st was 392. This ssows an increase of population for the two years of 4,195 with a decrease in the number of deaths for corresponding periods in 1911 and in 1913 of 160.

The report of Dr. John Thames, superintendent of, health, shows that during the month of August, just closed, there were 50 deaths from all causes, 18 of these being, white and 32, colored. This makes a temporary death rate for the month per thousand of population of 13.9 for whites, and 26.6 for colored. Including white and colored people the temporary death rate per thousand for the month was 17.7. This shows that during the month of August in Wilmington the number of deaths was 1.6 below the average for the first eight months of the year which shows a splendid condition of health, especially when it is considered that this is one of the periods of the year when deaths from typhoid fever are more likely to occur than at other time of the year.

During the month of August there were 25 cases of typhoid in the county, 15 residents of Wilmington, 5 of residents of the county, and five non-residents or those who have been brought to the local hospitals for treat ment.

LOCAL DOTS.

—Carolina Davis, a white woman, who is apparently insane, was found yesterday afternoon by a member of the police department, wandering around near Eighth and Red Cross streets. She was taken to the police station, and some steps will be taken today to see that she is taken care of. Her son, it is stated, went to Norfolk Tuesday on an excursion, and no one was left at home to take care of the woman.

APPRECIATE HIS HEROISM

Mr. A. A. Nelms Receives Letters of Gratitude from Relatives

Mr. A. A. Nelms, of this city, who recently in an unsuccessful attempt to save the life of Mr. Charles Budden allowed a large quantity of his blood to be transfused into the veins of the sick man has received letters of gratitude from two of the aunts of young Budden. Both these women live in England, and express the highest praise for the noble effort made by Mr. Nelms to save the life of their nephew. Neither knew of the illness of the young man until they received newspaper clippings telling the story of the noble sacrifice of Mr. Nelms. Mr. Budden died within a few hours after the transfusion of blood had taken place, his body being so weakened by fever that he could not respond to the treatment which his physicians resorted to as a last effort to save his life.

CITY FINANCIAL STATEMENT

City Treasurer Finished Report for Month of August Yesterday

Capt. Thomas D. Meares, city clerk and treasurer, completed yesterday his statement of receipts for the city of Wilmington during the month of August which shows that from all sources of the general fund the receipts for the month amounted to $1,627.66. For the fiscal year to date the total receipts, general fund, have been $16,045.40, and for the same period last year, $13,421.85. From all other sources, such as the water and sewerage department, park fund incinerator and sidewalks the receipts increase the total to $3,081.61 and for the fiscal year to $32,485.

..Theatrical..

Tomorrow night the Academy opens its season for 1913-14, and will present as an inaugural attraction, "Quincy Adams Sawyer" which is well remembered as one of the best attractions of several seasons ago. This year the attraction is under the same management, being given a big revival with, it is said, a brilliant scenic equipment and a large cast of well known players. Due to the early date of opening a special scale of prices has been arranged, the highest going to $1, save box seats, of course, and seats can now be reserved at Plummer's.

A play that will win the sympathy and interest of its audience and well merits the great success is "Quincy Adams Sawyer." Nearly everybody is familiar with the novel of the same name, and it is promised that the dramatization of it has retained the simple, pure, country charm which gave the book such popular vogue. The scene is laid at Mason's corner, a country town of Massachusetts, where "Quincy Adams Sawyer," a wealthy Boston young man, comes to build up his health in the country. The girls admire him and some of the country boys become jealous and plan to run him out of town. But Mr. Sawyer conducts himself in such a way that he finally wins the love and respect of the whole community, and even turns around his enemies.

"Mutt and Jeff" Twice Saturday

"Mutt and Jeff in Panama," heralded as a new and dandy version of the big cartoon musical comedy and equipped with bright new costumes and a wealth of scenery, as well as sporting a large company (mostly girls) comes to the Academy of Music Saturday and will be seen twice, appearing both at matinee and night. The matinee will especially cater to the ladies and children, as the prices, to any part of the theatre, will be but 25 and 50 cents. Seats will be on sale at Plummer's tomorrow.

That "Mutt and Jeff" in their third season bids fair to be more profitable than either of the previous two, is said to be due to the personal attention Mr. Hill gives to every attraction that bears his name. He is said never to allow anything to become shop-worn or moth-eaten. Every year a show is sent out to tour the country it is a new one in everything but the title. No matter how many seasons the old title may be used, the material in the entertainment is not permitted to retrograde, therefore managers and theatre-goers are assured that at every visit of "Mutt and Jeff" the offering will be new. "In Panama," the vehicle used for laughing purposes this season, is an innovation in playwriting said to be far in advance of anything you have ever been offered at any price of admission.

The Bijou Bill

"Rescued From the Burning Stake," the biggest, greatest and most sumptuous feature and in three large reels, will head today's wonderful bill at the popular Bijou. The Bijou has a special and exclusive contract for use of the remarkable, elaborate Warner features and has a habit of presenting them too, in addition to its regular bill, which makes a gigantic, as well as costly offering, and yet the price of admission is never raised, remaining at 5 cents, any and all the time. Today's swell Warner feature is the most thrilling film story ever flashed on a screen and hundreds of actors were used in order to make the production. Scores of Indians were also employed and the presentation was made on a mammoth scale. There are many thrilling features climaxed by the hair-raising burning at the stake. Another star of today's Bijou bill is a rich Vitagraph comedy "Count Barber," dealing with an attempt to flimflam a newly rich woman. It's a scream for laughter.

The Grand's Offering

The Grand, that cozy, handsome theatre, will go joy riding today, to the great delight of its multitude of devotees. It has arranged a swell bill, one that will especially hit the amusement bone of every one for today and will serve it up in The Grand's usual smooth, faultless way, as only the popular Grand can do. Among today's star films is Pathe's "The Mad Sculptor," which is one of the most original as well as thrilling of dramas. Still another dramatic on today is the Biograph's "The Vengeance of Galora," which shows how one plots to bring another into the justice that men might give, while a young woman appeals powerfully and successfully to the moral force within mankind. Among other films today will be the great educational one, "Porcelain." Yes, there will be plenty of new and sprightly music on tap today, and to think the price is only 5 cents, afternoon and night.

FIELD SECRETARY HERE

Mr. M. W. Brabham Will Speak at Fifth Street Church Tonight

Mr. M. W. Brabham, field Sunday school secretary for the North Carolina Methodist Conference, will deliver an address tonight at 8 o'clock at the Fifth Street Methodist church in the interest of Sunday school work. While his lecture will be mainly for the benefit of Sunday school officers and teachers all are cordially invited to attend. He is a most interesting speaker, and is one of the foremost Sunday school workers in the entire State.

SWISS SHOOTERS LEAD

In Firing Line in International Matches at Camp Perry

Camp Perry, Ohio, Sept. 3.—The standing at the end of the second day's work on the firing line in the International matches as officially announced today gives the Swiss shooters the lead in three stages of the grand International re-entry match.

The United States leads in the best three score prone shooting, while Sweden is showing higher scores than France.

Is This Why English Beauties Are So Fair?

(From London Herald.)

Ever since the discovery that mercolized wax would absorb and remove a soiled complexion, its use by ladies as a substitute for toilet creams has grown rapidly. A perfect complexion can be maintained indefinitely if this remarkable substance is used. Its beneficent cleansing, clearing and preservative action is quickly apparent, and ladies who have been paying as high as a guinea a jar for "special cream" from beauty specialists, soon recognize that mercolized wax outranks them all. It has become so popular that it can be obtained at all chemist shops in the British Isles. American druggists also have great demand for it, in original one-ounce packages. The favorite way of using is to apply it, like cold cream, before retiring, washing it off in the morning.

The saxolite lotion for wrinkles and the facial contour has also become extremely popular. One ounce powdered saxolite is dissolved in one-half pint witch hazel. Bathing the face in this has a splendid effect in erasing wrinkles and improving contour.

Pruritis a Severe Form of Eczema

A Method of Home Treatment that is Very Effective.

There is probably no other remedy so well known as S. S. S. for the blood. And for this reason it is the one remedy invariably called for in treating pruritis and other skin diseases. But there are many people who do not insist upon having S. S. S. and are easily persuaded to try something else "just as good," so they are told. If your blood is thin; if your skin is irritated with eczema, lupus, tetter, psoriasis, or any other blood humor; if you are troubled with pimples or boils, do not permit yourself to be talked into buying something else, but insist upon S. S. S. It is really a remarkable remedy. It contains one ingredient, the active purpose of which is to stimulate the tissues to the healthy selection of its own essential nutriment. And the medical elements of this matchless blood purifier are just as essential to well-balanced health as the nutritious elements of the meats, grains, fats and sugars of our daily food. These facts are brought out in a highly interesting book on skin diseases, compiled by the medical department of the Swift Specific Co., 184 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga. It is mailed free, together with a special letter of advice, to all who are struggling with a blood disease.

FUNERAL OF MR. EVANS

Aged Brunswick Citizen Buried from Zion Church Yesterday

Yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock the funeral of Mr. John B. Evans, an aged citizen of Brunswick county, who died at his home in the Town Creek section Tuesday afternoon, was held from Zion Methodist church, conducted by the pastor, Rev. T. A. Lupton. Mr. Evans was a member of this church since his early youth. A large concourse of friends and relatives gathered at the church to attend the obsequies. The remains were laid to rest in the family burying ground near the church. A number of Wilmington people attended the funeral services.

GIRLS WHO ARE PALE, NERVOUS

May Find Help in Mrs. Elston's Letter About Her Daughter.

Burlington, Iowa.—"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has cured my daughter of weakness. She was troubled almost a year with it and complained of backache, so that I thought she would be an invalid. She was entirely run down, pale, nervous and without appetite. I was very much discouraged but heard of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound through friends and now I praise it because it has cured my daughter."—Mrs. F. M. ELSTON, R. D. No. 3, Burlington, Iowa.

Case of Another Girl.

Scanlon, Minn.—"I used to be bothered with nervous spells, and would cry if anyone was cross to me. I got awful weak spells especially in the morning, and my appetite was poor. I also had a tender place in my right side which pained when I did any hard work. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and my symptoms all changed, and I am certainly feeling fine. I recommend it to every suffering woman or girl. You may use this letter for the good of others."—Miss ELLA OLSON, 171 5th St., Virginia, Minn.

Young Girls, Heed This Advice.

Girls who are troubled with painful or irregular periods, backache, headache, dragging-down sensations, fainting spells or indigestion, should immediately seek restoration to health by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

COTTON ACTIVE AND EXCITED

Influence of Previous Day's Bullish Crop Plainly Apparent—Last Prices Showed Net Gains—The close Steady

New York, Sept. 3.—The cotton market showed continued activity and excitement during today's trading. The influence of yesterday's bullish crop was plainly apparent, and appeared to be intensified by a bullish reading of the weekly weather review, which was followed by an advance to 13.35 for December contracts, or fully $6.75 per bale from the closing figure of last Friday.

Reactionary sentiment became more pronounced as buying slackened after this big advance, and the market lost 20 or 25 points of its gain in the late trading under realizing, Southern selling and private reports of rain in the Southwest.

The closing tone was steady, however, and last prices still showed net gains of from 22 to 30 points for the day. The opening was steady, at an advance of 7 to 13 points, in response to higher cables and a renewal of yesterday's buying movement. Offerings were very heavy from the start and prices sagged off to a net loss of 8 to 9 points during the early trading. Cotton was readily taken at this comparatively slight set back, and the market developed renewed strength toward midday, on covering by early sellers, re-buying by sold-out longs, or fresh buying for trade and speculative accounts. Active months sold 44 to 49 net higher, before offerings became heavy enough to check the advance, and for a time it looked like nothing short of a runaway market.

There was heavy Southern selling above 13¼c., however, and as soon as the general buying movement slackened, realizing became more active, on reports that the South was hedging freely against its coming crop, and that spinners were buying only moderately on the advance. At the high price of today, the market showed a gain of 12,60 per bale from the low level of August 14th, and while local gossip reflected a decided scaling down of crop estimates during this period, there was doubtless considerable selling, a theory that it would require a very active trade demand to sustain advances in the face of an increasing new crop movement.

Spot cotton, quiet. Middling uplands, 13.30; gulf, 13.55. No sales.

Cotton futures closed steady.

THE DRY GOODS MARKET.

New York, Sept. 3.—Cotton goods markets are strong. Fruit of the loom, 4-4 bleached muslins have been advanced to 8½ cents, and no orders will be taken for future delivery except at value. Burlaps are at the top level of prices. New lines of Spring laces and embroideries are being shown. Business in dry goods is being restricted by high prices for raw material, and inability of mills to forecast prices for the long future.

FRUITLESS SEARCH FOR BODY

Remains of S. L. Leary Could Not Be Found at Virginia Beach

(Special Star Correspondence)

Wilson, N. C., Sept. 3.—Mr. R. E. Crawford returned from Norfolk yesterday where he spent the past two days directing the search for the body of Mr. S. L. Leary, who was drowned at Virginia Beach Saturday. The body has not yet been washed ashore, but the coast guards are still patrolling the beach, Mr. Crawford talked with several people who saw Mr. Leary enter the surf but was unable to find anyone who had noticed him in distress.

STOCK SENTIMENT BEARISH

Several Railroads Report Shrinkages in Net Earnings for July—Loss of Cash by Banks a Weakening Feature

New York, Sept. 3.—Sentiment was distinctly bearish in the stock market today, and the downward movement of the preceding session was carried measurably further. Several railroads, including Rock Island and St. Paul reported shrinkages in net earnings for July. The effect of yesterday's unfavorable cotton crop report was heightened by the government's weekly weather review, telling of unbroken drouth over a large section.

Another weakening feature was the continued loss of cash by the banks. Demands from the interior were heavy, and the loss by the banks on sub-treasury operations so far this week approximates the entire surplus reserve reports at the end of last week.

Railroad stocks were heaviest as a class, although Amalgamated, Steel and a few other industrials showed weakness. Losses among the usual leaders reached more than two points in some cases. Toward the close there was a slight rally. Announcement by the underwriters that 80 per cent. of Union Pacific's holding of Southern Pacific had been subscribed for, assuring the success of the undertakings, may have played a part in bringing about the late rally. The result fell short of recent optimistic predictions that virtually the whole amount would be taken and Southern Pacific declined fractionally to 89¾, the year's lowest. It was generally held, however, that the market's ability to absorb 80 per cent. of an offering of $88,000,000, was an indication of improved investment conditions.

The bond market developed considerable irregularity, with a downward tendency. Total sales, par value, $1,424,000. United States bonds were unchanged on call. Total sales were 308,900 shares, including American Tobacco, 100; A. C. L., 200; C. and O., 2,200; Lehigh Valley, 1,800; L. and N., 1,000; N. and W., 400; Pullman Palace Car, 51,000; S. A. Square Foot and Foot Square.

There is no difference in area between one square foot and one foot square, though there may be a difference in the shape and dimensions of the surfaces. For instance, one square foot may be inclosed by a circular line, a hexagon, a triangle or a rectangle. One foot square is an area of fixed form, the four sides being equal and the four angles all right angles.

Planted Trees to Honor Chiefs.

During the presidential campaign of Andrew Jackson, who was called "Old Hickory," his admirers planted scores of hickory trees throughout the land in his honor and at the same time to magnify a party slogan. When John Quincy Adams was a presidential candidate, his followers planted oaks in his honor.

¶ Railroad engineer, 8 years at the throttle, had invested his savings in a printing business.

¶ Business, ill-managed was on the verge of ruin. The engineer left his engine one day and stepped in as superintendent. Never had seen the inside of a printing plant.

¶ Today it is one of the most successful catalog houses in his section, and he's rich.

¶ He was a born executive, not an engine driver, and he found himself.

¶ A want ad will also find your place, old fellow.

PHEA FOR BETTER NAVY YARDS

Mexico, or Carribbean Sea for a naval docking and repair station.

"In the opinion of the board," says the report, "New Orleans is not suitable for a naval base of the magnitude desired."

In regard to the Charleston navy yard, the board expressed the opinion that the developments there "should be for the express purpose of preparing that navy yard for use in time of emergency as a docking and ship repair station.'

In the opinion of the board, Key West, Fla. should be utilized as a repair and supply station for torpedo craft and submarines and as a station for the maintenance of a reserve supply of coal and fuel oil.

Construction of a new guard house and six new double sets of barracks for non-commissioned and pettey officers' quarters at Port Royal, S. C., and detention barracks is recommended by the board.

FIGHT PELLAGRA.

Southern Physicians in Conference Discuss the Disease.

Spartanburg, S. C., Sept. 3.—Pellagra, its agencies of dissemination and possible preventatives, formed the subject of a conference of Southern physicians here today. Nearly 200 students of the disease, coming from practically every Southern state, were present. Dr. Louis W. Sambon, head of the School of Tropical Medicine, London, was the principal speaker.

Dr. Sambon, who is chief exponent of the insect theory of dissemination, declared that pellagra is rapidly becoming a subject of world-wide concern. Fifty-three cases, he said, had been discovered in the British Isles. Hundreds of others, he added probably existed but had been unidentified because of the general ignorance of physicians in regard to the diease.

Although extensive research work had convinced him, Dr. Sambon said, that pellagra, is transmitted by an insect, he had reached no definite conclusion as to the identity of the transmitting agent. He suggested that the Buffalo gnat seemed a likely suspect, drawing his inference from the fact that the disease spreads most readily along flowing streams.

Dr. Sambon urged thorough and immediate investigation of the whole pellagra problem, whose magnitude, he said, has not been generally recognized. He declared that many cases of insanity in his opinion have had their origin in pellagra infection.

Today's conference was held under the auspices of the Thompson McFadden pellagra commission of the New York Post-graduate school of medicine and the local medical society.

After two years of intensive research by a corps of twenty scientists, the Thompson-McFadden Pellagra commission is still ignorant of the cause of the disease, but has reached the conclusion that it is an infectious disease, communicable from person to person by an unidentified agent, according to announcement made by Dr. Ward J. McNeal, of the New York Post Graduate Hospital, a member of the commission, made to the conference this afternoon.

Dr. McNeal summarized the commission's findings as follows:

"First—The supposition that the ingestion of good or spoiled maize is the essential cause of pellagra is not supported by our study.

"Second—Pellagra is in all probability a specific infectious disease, communicable by means at present unknown.

"Third—We have discovered no evidence incriminating buffalo gnats in the causation of pellagra. If it is distributed by a blood-sucking insect the stable fly would appear to be the most probable carrier.

"Fourth—We are inclined to regard intimate association in the household and the contamination of food with the excretions of pellagrins, as possible modes of distribution of the disease.

"Five—No specific cause of pellagra has been recognized."

Although none of the assembled physicians was able to suggest a specific remedy for the disease, Dr. C. H. Lavinder, of the public health service, Savannah, Ga., declared:

"If you remove a pellagrin in the early stages of the disease from the endemic locality of the disease, put him in better surroundings, and give him plenty of good, nourishing food, regardless of treatment, he will get well and stay well. In view of the high mortality of pellagra and pessimistic feeling in regard to it, this should be a comforting thought to us. It should also be comforting that pellagra is not directly transmissible from one person to another."

SEARCHING WRECK INQUIRY

Inter-State Commerce Commission Probes Latest New Haven Horror

New Haven, Conn., Sept. 3.—With 21 dead, and five dying, as the result of the wreck near New Haven yesterday of the Bar Harbor Express, the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad faces tonight a public inquiry into the causes of the disaster by the Inter-State Commerce Commission. It will begin Friday, and will be the most searching ever conducted by the commission into any railroad catastrophe.

The identification of all the victims of the wreck was completed tonight when the body of a woman, known hitherto only as "Mary Jane," was identified as that of Catherine Sweeney, 45 years old, of New York. Harvey R. Mooney, a Maine hotel keeper, made the identification saying the the woman had been employed as a seamstress at his hotel.

The revised list of dead as compiled by Coroner Mix today was as follows:

Altschul, William, Norfolk, Va.
Armstrong, Margaret, Washington, D. C.
Biddle, Harriet, Torresdale, Pa.
Bullitt, Maie L., Philadelphia, Pa.
Davis, Emely, Kennedy Pa.
Fox, Samuel Crozier, Philadelphia, Pa.
Green, Albert, New York.
Hotchkiss, Royal A., New Haven, Conn.
Hotchkiss, Phil, his brother.
Izani, Harry K., New York.
Koga George T., New York.
Marvin, Dr. James B., Louisville, Ky.
Marvin, Mrs. James B., Louisville, K.
Marvin, Martha H., daughter, Louisville, Ky.
Martin, Howard F., Bryn Mawr, Pa.
Martin, Mrs. Howard F., Bryn Mawr Pa.
McQuillan, Daniel Neal, Jr., Overbrook, Pa.
Rutter, Frank P., Scranton, Pa.
Rutter, Mrs. Frank P., Scranton, Pa.
Yahn, Robert M., Philadelphia, Pa.
Sweeney, Catherine, 55 years old, New York.

Until the Inter-State Commerce commission's witnesses tell their story, the official explanation given out by the company will be the only version of the causes of the wreck, available. Coroner Mix persisted today in refusing to make public the testimony of Engineer Miller, of the White Mountain Express, which crashed into the Bar Harbor train, or of Flagman Murray, of the latter train, both of whom he examined yesterday.

The coroner tomorrow will begin his formal inquest to fix the criminal responsibility, but this also will be a private afair.

Acting under telegraph instructions from Commissioner McChord, Mr. Belknap today demanded that he be allowed to be present at the inquest. To this the coroner acceded and promised him a copy of testimony alraeady taken.

President Elliott tonight declared that as far as he was concerned he was perfectly willing for the testimony to become public but had refrained from giving it out in deference to the coroner.

He declared that when the questions were raised of admitting newspaper men to yesterday's hearing hearing and of making public the testimony then taken, the railroad had deferred to the actions of the coroner and said: "it appears that the public authorities feel that it is unwise at this time to make public the testimony."

Engineer Miller and Flagman Murray were still in jail tonight and the coroner has refused to accept bonds for their appearance at tomorrow's hearing. They will be among the first examined.

Inspector Belknay lost no time today in preparing for the investigation. He visited President Elliott and obtained the time sheets of all the trains in operation on this dixision of the New Haven railroad the records of the crews of the two express trains and other data needed. He refused to state what the time sheets disclosed but it was learned that of six trains that left Springfield within an hour of each other yesterday morning, all of them late, the White Mountain express was making faster time than any of them—somewhat in excess of 40 miles an hour.

Small Son of Mr. and Mrs. Mason G. Burr, of Wilmington, Heir

(Special Star Telegram.)

Riverhold, L. I., Sept. 3.—The will of Theodore F. Jackson has been probated here. The exact value of the estate is unknown. Mr. Jackson died June 18th. Through the will and codicil the widow, Cornelia B. Jackson, is given $150,000 immediately and all of testator's lands in Southampton, etc. Many of the bequests to friends and relatives were very liberal, especially those to his nephews in the codicil. Bequests are made including, one of $10,000 to Theodore Jackson Burr, son of Mason G. Burr, of Wilmington, N. C. The executors of the will are Jos. A. Burr Samuel H. Cooms and Ernest H. Jackson.

camicomico lifesaving station, who effected their rescue.

The storm raged with great severity on this coast today and many sailing vessels sought shelter in Hampton Roads. The vessels of the Atlantic battle fleet now in Hampton Roads rode the storm in perfect safety but the blow in Hampton Roads was the worst of the present season. All incoming Washington and Baltimore bay boats had rough experiences during the night and other bay boats found it very severe today.

The wind reached a maximum velocity in Norfolk during the forenoon today of 52 miles an hour. Signs and fences were blown down in some places.

Torrential rains flooded the downtown streets, making them impassable for a time.

Waterspout in Hampton Roads

Newport News, Va., Sept. 3.—Three petty officers and five seamen of the battleship Nebraska narrowly escaped drowning in Hampton Roads this morning when a waterspout swamped a launch in which they were making for shore. Ropes were thrown from the battleship and the men hauled to safety. A launch from the California was beached near Phoebus after a run before the gale. The crew escaped. The early report today that three officers and five sailors had been drowned was not denied until tonight.

Damage at Wilson.

Wilson, N. C., Sept. 3.—This county was storm-swept today, a terrific wind and rain beginning shortly after last midnight and continuing with little abatement until afternoon.

Here in Wilson, trees were uprooted, telephone polls blown down and business signs torn away. Business was at a standstill all day. The local electric power plant is making an effort to furnish power to industrial plants but the lighting system is out of commission. The local telephone system is a heavy loser and very few lines remain in service. It is impossible to get information from the country districts but the general opinion is that cotton and corn will be badly damaged. It is estimated that the velocity of the wind has been over 60 miles an hour for the past ten hours and the rain has literally fallen in sheets.

AMATEUR GOLF

Spectacular Playing Done in National Championship Series

Garden City, N. Y., Sept. 3.—Eight matches each at 36 holes which constituted the second round for the National Amateur Golf championship, were decided on the Garden City Club's links today and two of them went to extra holes. The quality of golf displayed was excellent and at times spectacular.

The winners, in order of play, were Charles Evans, Jr. Chicago; Walter J. Travisi, Garden City; T. M. Sherman, Utica; J. G. Anderson, of Braeburn, Mass., A. M. Reid, St. Andrews, N. Y.; Jerome D. Travers, of Upper Mont Clair, N. J.; Frederick Herreshoff, of Ekwanok, Vermont, and P. W. Whittemore, of Brookline Mass. Interest centered principally in the match between Champion Travers and Francis Ouimet, the young champion of Massachusetts and their play was watched by the largest "gallery" ever assembled at a mid-week golf championship match in this vicinity. Many believed, although beaten 3 up and 2 to play, Ouimet acquitted himself more than creditably.

WEATHER IN COTTON BELT.

Review Shows Continuation of Favorable Conditions East of Mississippi

Washington, Sept. 3.—A review of the weather in the cotton belt for the week which ended Monday was issued today as follows:

East of the Mississippi the favorable conditions of the past several weeks continued, but high temperatures and generally deficient rainfall have reduced the soil moisture below that necessary for the best crop development, and more rain is now needed in many portions.

West of the Mississippi high day temperatures, and there was nearly universal absence of any beneficial showers, save at a few points in Texas. The drought and heat continued especially severe in Oklahoma, Southern Missouri and large portions of Texas, a lack of rainfall is now being severely felt in Arkansas and probably in Northern Louisiana."

WOMAN BEATEN TO DEATH

Twelve-year-old Girl May Die—Police Seek Tramps as Suspects

Rices Landing Pa., Sept. 3.—Mrs. Jessie Price, wife of Oliver Price, a wealthy farmer, was beaten to death in her home near here today, and her 12-year-old daughter was so badly injured it is feared she cannot recover.

Price had left home for Pittsburgh early in the day, and the crime was discovered by neighbors. The authorities are looking for two tramps seen near the Price farm last night.

BITS OF HISTORY

NEW STYLE TIME

The New Style Calendar was adopted by England and her Colonies in 1752. The change made September 3rd become September 14th, and the eleven days intervening remain lost for all time. The loss of those days injured no one as each person lost the same eleven days and no business was recorded between the dates mentioned.

But about the days that are lost from time to time by each of us. Those persons who have never had a Bank Account have lost a great many days, during which a little surplus might have been growing. Lose no more days, but start now.

On what you save this Bank allows 4 per cent interest compounded quarterly.
